SUPER-HIGHWAY PLANS DRAFTED

$37,528,000,000 BUDGET ASKED

$15,000,000 Road Planned For Mansfield

Huge Program Expected to Be Offered To Legislature; Route Would Miss Business District.

A proposal to change U. S. Route 42 for 14 miles north and south of Mansfield into a $15,000,000 expressway will be submitted to the state legislature next week, the Associated Press reported today.

The proposal is part of a state-wide inventory of Ohio road needs which State Highway Director Perry T. Ford is expected to place before the legislature.

The inventoried needs comprise a network of express highways estimated to cost about $742,000,000 and expected to boost to more than $1,000,000,000 the cost of an over-all 10-year highway construction and repair program summarized for the legislature, the AP said.

If the legislature is favorable to the program, the work of carrying out the proposals will be up to Murray D. Shaffer, who succeeds Ford as state highway director next Monday.

While Ford has argued against a new network of superhighways, the inventory is based upon the idea of eliminating bottlenecks at cities and of making expressways out of existing highways which receive extremely heavy traffic.

* * *

Mile Cost Reduced.

It was said that the cost per mile of the Mansfield project has been reduced from preliminary figures because a considerable proportion of the route passes through areas having rural characteristics which help lower construction expenses.

While detailed information about the Mansfield project was lacking today, it was believed the proposal calls for relocation of Route 42 from a point north of Lexington over a route southeast of Mansfield to the present Route 42 right-of-way beyond the Ashland hill, missing the city's business district.

Plans mapped by the state highway department during the war also proposed elevating Routes 42 and 30-N through Mansfield in the vicinity of Sixth and Orange streets. However, it's believed that plan has been abandoned because of the excessive cost.

Meantime, private interests are prepared to seek legislative approval of plans to create a new system of toll expressways crisscrossing the state.

Expansion of the highway director's powers and greater diversion of gasoline tax revenue for highway purposes also are suggested, the source said.

Reports Roads Bad.

The need for expenditure of more money on the state's 18,420 miles of roads is immediate, the report declared, adding: "Ohio's highway system is taking two steps backward for each step forward."

Proposed expressways for the state's eight largest cities would cost $555,600,000. The inventory, in listing 128.4 miles of such roadways, declared the estimated cost could be considered minimum and that additional expressways would be added to the agenda as studies in several cities progress.

In certain cities, 35,000 to 100,000 population, on interstate highways, 25.16 miles of the fast routes would cost $23,500,000 and 195 miles of rural expressways are expected to cost $163,000,000.

COUNCIL GETS RECORD BILL

1947 Operating Measure Tops Last Year's By $150,000.

City council tonight will consider a bill which sets up $969,800 for city expenses this year, largest appropriation bill in Mansfield's history.

The measure tops 1946's appropriation bill by nearly $150,000. It is $200,000 higher than 1944's.

On the basis of estimates prepared by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, the city will have a balance om approximately $480,000 at the end of this year if only the money set up for appropriation tonight is spent during the year.

Major reasons advanced by city officials for the record appropriation are high cost of labor and materials and the fact that the city is attempting to pare the number of special appropriations to be made this year.

Fire, Police Funds Grow.

Scheduled for substantial boosts are the fire department, up some $34,000 and the police department, up about $15,000. In addition, the parking meter fund is set for a $10,000 increase. Most of its money goes to pay traffic patrolmen.

Other departments scheduled for major increases include the garbage, up about $17,000; city building, up $11,000; parks, up $7,000; water department, up about $6,000; airport, up $6,000, and engineering, up about $4,000.

The bill proposes appropriations of $134,300 for the fire department; $89,400 for the police department; $55,500 for the parking meter fund; $24,000 for the city building fund; $46,000 for parks; $72,100 for the garbage fund; and $184,000 for the waterworks fund.

Other proposed appropriations include $12,200 for engineering; $7,000 gor the airport and about $26,700 for public health.

FATHER, SON HELD BY FBI

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today that a Bellville father and son are being held in Arizona and Pennsylvania, the father charged with failing to report for induction; the son charged with auto theft.

The pair were arrested almost simultaneously, the FBI said. The agency said, however, that there is no connection between the two cases.

Agent E. C. Richardson, in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said the father, Elmer E. Varner had been sought by the government for months. He is being held at Pittsburgh, Richardson said.

The son, Clarence E. Varner, 18, is charged under the national motor vehicle theft act with the theft of a car owned by Mansfielder Adam Leitenberger, 224 Bowman street.

The car, a 1939 model, was recovered at Globe, Ariz., in running condition. The youth is being held by the U. S. marshall at Phoenix, Richardson said.

Mansfield police said the boy was booked in September, 1944 on an auto theft charge and placed on probation. He was arrested again in April, 1945 for violation of probation, police records show, and sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory for one year to age.

HOUSE, SENATE RACE FORESEEN ON LABOR LAWS

Both GOP-Dominated Bodies Rush Preparation of Strike-Curb Bills.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Republican-controlled 80th congress ended its first week of business today with the house threatening to take the ball away from the senate on labor legislation.

For the moment the new session turned a critical eye on President Truman's budget message—his third communication to the lawmakers in a week.

But looking ahead, house leaders privately disclosed plans to have their branch write a comprehensive strike control measure before the March 1 date Chairman Taft (R., Ohio) has set for his labor committee to send one to the senate for debate.

It is possible the new house labor committee headed by Rep. Hartley (R., N. J.) will use as the basis of its considerations the all-inclusive measure introduced yesterday by Rep. Francis Case (R., S. D.)

Won't Wait on Senate.

"We aren't going to wait for the senate: we can pass a bill much quicker in the house," a high-placed Republican told reporters.

He smiled broadly when asked whether he thinks the house prefers not to have a labor bill named after Taft, an all but avowed aspirant for the party's 1948 presidential nomination.

The new labor measure proposed by Representative Case is far broader than the Case bill vetoed last year by President Truman. It includes more than a score of labor law revisions, one of which would make it possible for the government to delay a coal strike, or a strike in any equally important industry, through federal court injunction.

It also defines a group of "unfair labor practices" by unions.

Senate Republicans had planned to concentrate at the outset on the 1946 Case bill with slight revisions, and to tackle more comprehensive legislation later.

Competing with labor legislation for congressional interest and assured of almost equally-prompt attention are bills to cut taxes and to dole out to the various government agencies the funds they need for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

In the background, but likely to erupt into the fight stage at any time, are such issues as universal training, army-navy merger and removal of rent controls.

Citizens Shoulder Garbage Gathering

PORTSMOUTH —(INS)— Portsmouth city manager E. G. Littleton appealed to citizens today to haul their own refuse in closed dumps or keep garbage in closed containers to safeguard health.

The appeal was made as a strike of service, waterworks maintenance, cemetery and garbage collection department workers entered its tenth day.

FOR THE KIDS—Two of the many school-age youngsters who will attend the 11th annual News-Journal football banquet made sure yesterday that their dad bought tickets in plenty of time for Monday night's affair at the Coliseum. Luther H. McCally is shown buying tickets for his daughter, Norma, a sophomore at Mansfield Senior high school, and Ken, John Simpson junior high athlete. Sure dad is going too. 'Dads' Under Pressure By Sport-Loving Sons

To many a football-enthusiastic Mansfield family, Monday will be "family night."

As the deadline approaches for sale of tickets to the News-Journal's 11th annual football banquet, an increasingly large number of sports-loving boys and girls have put the pressure on dads to take them to hear Bo McMillin, the famous gridiron coach of Indiana university.

Bo will be the principal speaker at the Monday night festivities in North Lake Park coliseum, when members of the football teams of Mansfield Senior and Madison high schools are guests of honor of the News-Journal and several hundred Mansfield football fans.

* * *

THERE'LL BE MORE than one mother and sister and feminine admirer of football players in the crowd. Although so far the sale of tickets to high school girls and other feminine sports fans has not been large, interest began to mount this week and ticket headquarters reported today an increasingly great demand from girls and women.

But the big demand appeared to come from the high school and junior high youths who had talked "pop" into taking them to the dinner. At increasingly frequent intervals, they visited the various ticket-selling agencies to buy tickets for "me and dad."

For the dinner is for the youngsters who provide the heavy cheering for the Senior high and Madison football teams as well as for the players themselves. The players will be the guests; the youngsters and their elders will join with the News-Journal in paying tribute to the athletic skill and sportsmanship of the players.

* * *

IN ADDITION to the address by "Bo," features will include the award of football letters to members of the Senior gridiron squad; the announcement of the players selected by members of each of the Senior high and Madison football squads of the teammate they consider the "most valuable" to their 1946 teams and the award of handsome trophies to those "most valuable" players by the News-Journal, and the award also to senior members of each football squad of gold footballs by Sam Fox, jeweler.

The speech-making, however, will be brief except for the always entertaining wit supplied by "Bo." Fred Tharp, general manager, promised a minimum of talk and gave instructions to R. J. Alander, general manager of the News-Journal, who will serve as toastmaster, to keep the program moving rapidly toward its climax.

Sale of Tickets Ends Tomorrow

Sale of tickets for the 11th annual News-Journal football banquet at which "Bo" McMillin, Indiana coach and noted after-dinner speaker, will make the principal address, closes Saturday night.

They may be purchased at City News, Brown's Drug store, Sutter's, Tawse Pharmacy, or at the News-Journal.

The price: only $2.

ATTLEE ORDERS MILITARY AID IN FOOD CRISIS

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee ordered the British army, navy and air force today to do everything necessary to maintain food supplies, threatened by the strike of more than 14,000 truck drivers.

The prime minister issued the order as housewives formed lines in front of stores, but failed to receive their rations of meat and groceries.

Troops had been standing by. There was no hint of a settlement as the unofficial strike of the truck drivers continued into the fifth day and showed signs of spreading.

Latest developments included participation in the walkout by 500 drivers in the Liverpool area, marking the first important spread of movement to the provinces, and the halting of newsprint to one chain of London papers (Rothermere) from the paper mills in Kent.

The walkout involves the industry which the government has next on its list for nationalization.

The strikers, seeking higher wages and other concessions, claim their demands have been ignored by employers throughout negotiations which began nine months ago.

TRIESTE UNDER U. N. CONTROL

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—Australia appeared today to be the only hold-out against the big power foreign ministers' decision to place Trieste under the administration of the United Nations security council.

The council was scheduled to meet late this afternoon to accept responsibility for the Adriatic port as its first peace-maintenance project under a governor to be appointed by the council after the signing of the Italian peace treaty in February.

The big powers now have abandoned hope for unanimity on the decision on Trieste, debate on which began last Tuesday with Australia dissenting on principle.

In the meantime, the council began a prospectively long and stubborn debate centering on the United States and Russia over the world-wide arms reduction program recommended by the general assembly in December.

The main contenders came to grips immediately, disregarding Makin's opening plea for harmony and an Australian compromise proposal that would put an arms reduction commission to the drafting task immediately, as demanded by Russia, and also give a free rein for further development of the American atomic control program adopted by the atomic energy commission.

WHISKY THIEVES VISIT WESTBROOK

Thieves broke into the club house of the Westbrook Country club last night and escaped with an undetermined quantity of whisky, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Hildebrand reported today.

Padlocks on three doors were pried off in reaching the liquor stored in the basement. There was little other damage, Hildebrand reported.

C. F. Fighter, secretary-treasurer of the club, said an inventory would be taken to determine the amount of liquor stolen. He estimated the loot included at least two cases of whisky. Police believed two men aided in the theft.

TEACHERS PROTEST

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(INS)—Louisville's 1,000 public school teachers planned a protest meeting today to draft plans for possible strike action unless their demands for a $500 yearly salary increase are met. Negotiations with the school board were broken off yesterday.

Truman Calls His Estimate 'Hard-Boiled'

President's Message Ignores Demand Of GOP Leaders for Sharper Cuts In Government Expenditures

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman proposed today that the government spend $7,528,000,000 during the fiscal year which begins next July1.

His budget message to the Republican congress thus went more than $8,000,000,000 over the limit some key GOP leaders have set for federal outlays in their determined drive to cut taxes while whittling away at the mammoth national debt.

Mr. Truman earmarked $11,587,00000 for national defense and again ignored Republican demands to hold this item under $10,000,000,000.

But the chief executive, calling his budget "realistic" and "tight," insisted that he had been "more hard-boiled . . . than I like to be."

His recommended total of $37,528,000,000 is $4,995,000,000 under his revised estimate on what it is costing the government to operate this year and $1,668,000,000 higher than last year's budget.

Even so, the president said the treasury would close its books on June 30, 1948, with its first balanced budget in 18 years—and with a $202,000,000 surplus—provided there were no tax cuts in the next 18 months.

He placed estimated income for the coming year at $37,730,000,000—a drop of $2,500,000,000 from the current fiscal period.

Gives Recommendations.

Mr. Truman also asked the lawmakers to:

1. Prevent a $1,200,000,000-a-year cut now scheduled to take effect July 1 in excise taxes on liquor, beer, wine, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, movie admissions, night club bills, telephone service and other items.

2. Increase postal rates sufficiently to whip out the post office department's $352,000,000 operating deficit. The president did not specify the rates to be raised, but said he has instructed Postmaster General Hannegan to prepare suggestions.

(There were indications that these suggestions will apply principally to second-class mailing privileges of certain newspapers and magazines on the ground that the present low rates constitute a "subsidy" to them.)

If congress accepts the recommendations on excise taxes and

'Disappointing!' Says Bridges

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Chairman Bridges (R., N. H.), of the senate appropriations committee today called President Truman's 1948 budget "a shocking disappointment."

He expressed amazement at finding "the proposed budget maintaining high wartime levels of taxation and expenditures and a pitifully small reduction in our depressing national debt."

NAM BATTLES PORTAL CLAIMS

Manufacturers File Brief In Federal Court Opposing Wage Payments.

DETROIT —(INS)— The National Association of Manufacturers intervened today in the Mt. Clemens pottery portal-to-portal suit with a request that all claims for back pay be rejected.

The NAM brief was filed in federal district court here. It contended that any extra wages which might be found due under a portal-to-portal interpretation of the wage-hour act should be paidonly in the future after the law has been fully clarified.

The NAM argued that, in any case, retroactivity should go no further back than June 10, 1946, the date of the Supreme Court decision in the Mt. Clemens Pottery company case.

NAM general counsel Raymond S. Smethurst said:

"What we are asking the court to do is to apply the law in accordance with the experience and custom of industry.

"If we have misunderstood the law and if the very authorities who enforce it have misunderstood the law—the final decision of the court must be our guide for the future until congress changes and clarifies the law.

"So far, the portal-to-portal issue has taken the form of a war of nerves against industry and against the whole economic structure. The unions have gone into court in a spirit of 'grabbing' instead of awaiting real clarification of the law."

NAM was joined in the intervention by the Michigan Manufacturers association and the Employers Association of Detroit.

Since the Supreme Court's ruling, labor unions throughout the country have filed portal-to-portal pay suits totalling nearly four billion dollars.

Even In U. S. Budget There Are Chuckles (Costly Ones)

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON —(UP)— President Truman handed to congress today the biggest (six and one quarter pounds), most expensive ($5 per copy) budget in memory of the oldest lawmaker.

Interesting, too. There are costly chuckles and expensive dramatics on nearly every one of its 1563 pages; let's hold tightly to our wallets and examine a few entries, such as the one involving the admirals brushing the seaweed off the crystal ball:

They peered far into the future and foresaw in fiscal '48 warships crashing into freighters, piers and each other, causing exactly $59,598,000 worth of damage. They also asked for $396,000 to wash the shirts of midshipmen at Annapolis.

The senate put down $4,000 for an automobile for the non-existant vice-president and then insulted him, if ghosts can be insulted, by appropriating $6,500 each for the motor cars of its Republican and Democratic leaders. Capitol Hill tree surgery will cost $2,500 and new clocks for the congressional library, $2,250.

President Truman gets $100,000 to spend on objects of a confidential nature and $3—that's three simoons and not a misprint—for the transportation of things. That's a break for the taxpayers; moving them around at the White House the year before cost $8.

Things and their transportation, whenever a further clue, litter the budget. The atomic energy commission, for instance, needs $9,720000 to transport—br-r-r-r—thing. Must be big things.

Secretary of Interior Cap Krug wants $1,534,000 to propagate fish, $902,000 to investigate fish, and $01,000 to compile fishy statistic. For whales he needs $22,400 and for skinning foxes on the Pribilof islands, $150,000.

The governor of Alaska will make his old limousine do another year but the governor of the Virgin Islands needs two new ones at $2,000 each. It'll cost us $6,000 to fulfill our treaties with the Seneca Indians and $150,000 to keep the Sioux out of their war bonnets.

The fellows who name mountains, ponds and creeks, known formally as the interior department's division of geography, intend to spend $90,000 naming (they've got me doing it, too) things. The bureau of standards wants to build underground a $415,000 betatron.

CIVIC MUSIC AUDIENCE HEARS SPARKLING PROGRAM BY QUARTET

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Five fellows got together last night on the John Simpson stage and the music they chose might have been hand-picked by the Mansfield Civic Music association, so well did the selections warm the hearts of the listeners.

The entertainers were members of the National Male quartet and their piano accompanist. The spotlight, however, was shared by all five men, each proving his ability as a solo artist.

Undoubtedly the high spot of the evening was the virile "On the Road to Mandalay" which brought thunderous applause and a repeat performance. Close behind in popularity were "Old Man River," perfect vehicle for the rich deep base of Bruce MacKay, and the duet of Faust and Mephistopheles, sung by the tenor artist, Attilio Gaggiore and MacKay.

* * *

SPRINKLED EFFECTIVELY through the program were selections by the gifted accompanist, Walter Hatchek. His selections included the Gluck-Brahms arrangement of "Gavotte," "Grande Valse in A Flat Major," by Chopin: "Dream of Love," by Liszt, and an encore of a Chopin etude.

Giulio Gari and Vernon Sanders, tenor and baritone of the ensemble, were featured in an operatic duet from Verdi's opera "La Forza del Destino," which proved a showpiece for the colorful tenor.

Although their selections varied from the work of the 17-century English composer, Henry Purcell, to recent Broadway hits, seemingly most appreciated were the familiar light classics. These included "Lullaby" by Brahms, artfully done; the melodious "Sylvia," by Speaks; "Donkey Serenade," by Friml; and the "Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

* * *

SOME MEMBERS of the audience forgot thmeselves and applauded "The Lord's Prayer" which was used as a benediction by the singers.

Other selections included "Nymphs and Shepherds" by Purcell; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; "The Omnipotence," by Schubert; a medley of hits from "Oklahoma" and "Song of Norway;" "Clair de Lune" by Debussy; "I Love Thee," by "Grieg; and a waltz medley of Strauss and Brahms.

The quartet appeared in the third concert sponsored this season by the Civic Music association. The final concert will feature the dramatic soprano of opera and concert fame, Selma Kaye, on Feb. 24.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

A drunk was weaving through the Bronx Zoo one day when a lion broke out of his cage. People scattered wildly in every direction, but the drunk calmly walked up to the lion, grabbed him by the mane, and marched him back to his quarters.

The next day the mayor called him and said, "We're having a medal struck off for you. Collaring a lion bare-handed is about the greatest act of bravery I know."

The hero, now sober, clapped a hand to his head. "Great Jehosophat," he cried. "Don't tell me that lion was real"—and fainted.

Alan Reed (who created the role of Falstaff on the Fred Allen program) explained that he had changed his name from Bergman. "Where could I get with a name like Bergman?" he asked. "Who knows?" was the reply. "Ingrid Reed seems to be doing all right."

Hospitals Find Mental Ills Big Problem, Physician Says

More hospital beds are occupied by the mentally ill in the United States than by patients suffering from all other ailments, Dr. R. H. Barnes, Mansfield physician, said yesterday in a talk before the Mansfield Kiwanis club.

Dr. Barnes, who spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, discussed his experiences as a major and Air Force flight surgeon in World War II.

"It is estimated that 65 per cent of the patients in doctor's waiting rooms are there because of some sort of emotional unbalance," Dr. Barnes said.

"This sickness is the result of unbalanced living on the part of the individual and those with whom he lives.

"The answer to what is needed is a balanced human being based on the proper mixtures of work, play, love, and worship crowned by common sense."

Dr. Barnes showed a film and slides on the North African campaign.

L. W. Birch was program chairman at the luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

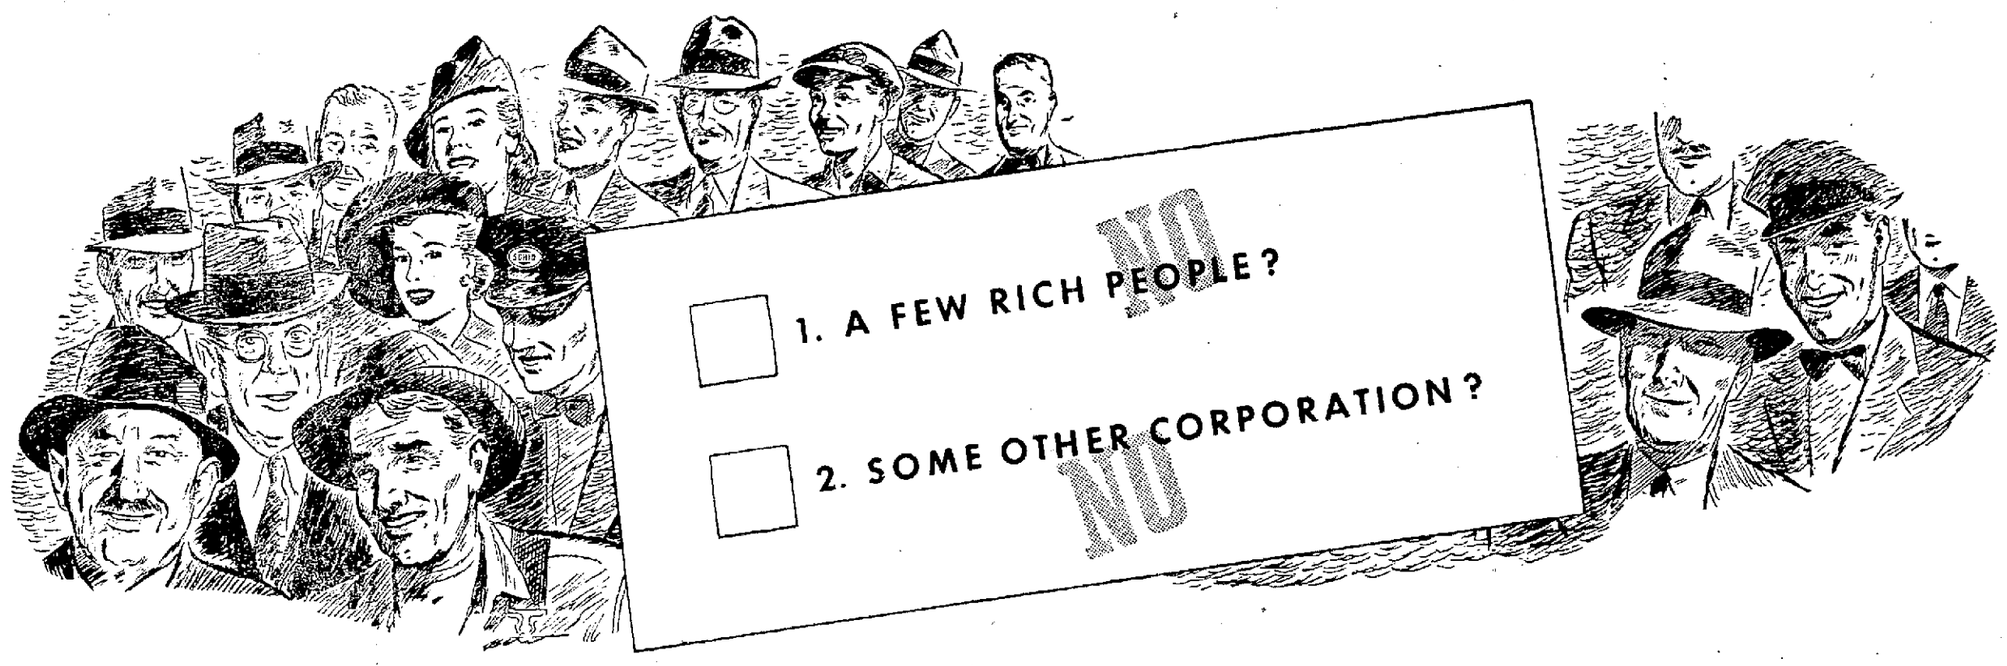
Guess who owns

Sohio today?



Answer: Only 2 stockholders own more than 1% of the common stock, and both of these are non-profit institutions. The largest is a charitable foundation which owns 12⅔%. The second largest is a famous university which owns 1½%.

The ownership of Sohio is shared today by 12,345 individuals, colleges, banks, insurance companies and non-profit institutions.

74 insurance companies—names that are household words to most of us—have funds invested in Sohio. Thus, through their insurance money, additional thousands of people are Sohio owners.

The number of people who share the ownership of Sohio has more than doubled in the past 10 years.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Here are some interesting facts about Sohio employees in our 77th year

★ 1 out of every 15 present Sohioans has been with the company 25 years or more.

★ 1 out of every 3 present Sohio employees was in the service of his country in World War II.

★ For every 25 persons now working with Sohio, there is a Sohioan now enjoying retirement, thanks to Sohio's pension fund.

HERE ARE SOME TYPICAL SOHIO OWNERS . . . . . Just for fun we picked out a typical Ohio town and checked to see who our stockholders were. The town was Lima, and we found we had 10 stockholders. Our photographer was able to find and photograph 6 of them. Here they are—just folks like the rest of us—

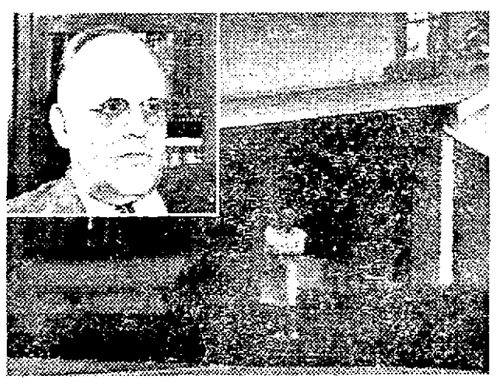
Shareholder Wallace H. King and his wife reside in a comfortable two-family home at 685 West Market Street. Mr. King was going out to dinner when we caught him for this picture. He has built up a successful life insurance agency with offices in the National Bank Building.

Shareholder Jacob Wise owns a parking lot on West Street. A bachelor, he lives with his brother. Mr. Wise says his hobbies are "playing rummy and poker, but never drawing to an inside straight". During the war he was able to bring his niece and her family over from the old country and buy her a home in Lima.

In the upstairs apartment of this home at 903½ West Spring Street, we found Mrs. Caroline J. Becker, who recently sold her former home at 1052 West Elm Street. Mrs. Becker is the widow of former Lima City Manager Becker who died in 1941. She is very proud of her investment in Sohio.



Here is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Ebersbach at 423 South Charles Street. Mrs. Ebersbach and grandson, David, in front of the house, while Shareholder Ebersbach is shown in insert. Mr. Ebersbach is Safety Director at the Lima Ordnance Works, and formerly was employed by the U. S. Gypsum Company.

Sohioan Tony Lusk, who lives at 128 West Water Street, is a pumper at Sohio's Lima Refinery, and a shareholder in his company. He started with Sohio in 1915, and is an enthusiastic member of the company's "Quarter Century" Club. He'll retire in three years and reap the benefits of Sohio's pension fund.

QUAKER FIVE HAS HEIGHT, SMALL COURT

11 Players Make Trip To New Philadelphia.

The combination of a tight zone defense, tall ball club and a bandbox gym makes the Quakers a feared combination on their home court. They have won only one of nine games this year.

New Philadelphia topped Dennison 57 to 32 while losing to Canton Lincoln, 33-35; Newcomerstown, 29-41; Akron Garfield, 39-40; Toledo Waite, 28-35; Springfield, 23-47; Cleveland Benedictine, 52-58; Cambridge, 37-44, and Dover, 36-51.

The Dennison, Garfield and Benedictine games were played on the Quaker court. The latter clubs are regarded as among the best in Akron and Cleveland.

Paul Phipps, 6-4 center, is the only returning regular from the 1945-46 team which lost to the Bengals, 28 to 32. However, Dick Meese, 5-7, and Glen Glazier, 5-8, received monograms as sub guards. The other Quaker starters are: Lynn McGill, 6-2, and Jerry Burke, 6-5, forwards.

Phipps leads the Quaker scoring with 88 points while Burke has counted 78.

Ollie Cline, Chuck Sisco and Ralph Majors played against New Philadelphia last season. Cline made only four points but one of his baskets tied the score at 28-28 and the second won the game.

Tommy Bloor leads the Mansfield scorers with 89 points while Cline has dumped in 88. Sisco is third with 77 and Nick Gagich has made 71.

The Tyger varsity leaves by private cars this afternoon. Making the trip are: Majors, Cline, Sisco, Bloor, Gagich, Rodney Blahnik, Phil Pittinger, Shelley Swank, Lewis Burns, Dick Flockencier, Burte Lindsay, Coach Vern Hoffman and Manager Don Jacobs.

The sophomore club will not make the trip. It plays the YMCA team this afternoon at 3:30.

Butler After 8th County Loop Victory

Butler's rampaging Bulldogs will be seeking their eighth Richland county league victory at Lucas tonight. In the initial tilt between the two schools, Butler defeated Lucas, 44 to 33.

Coach Ed Wysocki's Bulldogs hold a two game edge in the county loop. They have amassed 321 points for an average of 45.9 tallies, while holding their opponents to an average of 25.

Lucas will be minus its star forward Don Stake, who is suffering from a blood poison infection. Stake has counted for 36 field goals, and 13 free throws for 85 points or an average of 14.2 in six games.

Bellville, which gained second place by upsetting Lexington earlier this season, is favored to cop its sixth victory over hapless Shiloh on the latter's court. Shiloh has dropped seven straight cage contests in loop play.

Lexington and Ontario will battle it out for undisputed possession of third place on the Ontario court. Both teams have won four and dropped two.

Minutemen forward Rollin Ford is expected to regain the individual scoring lead since Stake has been benched for tonight's games. He is trailing the Lucas guard by five points, with 80.

Plymouth entertains Union and is favored to win its fourth contest in seven starts. Union has won only one out of seven games. They topped Shiloh, 48 to 26, earlier this week.

Recreation Can Serve Youth Well--Kamen

Stanley W. Kamen, who will head Mansfield's new recreation program, believes that a well-rounded recreation program can make a worthwhile contribution to society.

"Recreation can be of particular benefit to youth with an intelligent and inclusive use of available facilities," he writes.

Mansfield voters, last November, approved a two-tenth mill levy which set up a recreation department. Kamen, as director, will receive an annual salary of $3,600, and will have a full-time secretary. The Mansfield recreation board hopes to establish an office for Kamen in the City building.

Kamen's appointment to the newly-created post was announced yesterday by Floyd Dent, chairman of the recreation board. Kamen, Larchmont, N. Y., athletic coach, begins his duties in Mansfield on April 1.

In addition to his coaching work, Kaman is completing work for his master's degree in physical education at Columbia university.

He is expected in Mansfield early in February according to his wife, the former Betty Ackerman of Mansfield. They have one son, Edward, 15-months.

Mrs. Kamen is staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ackerman, 32 Parkwood boulevard.

"To achieve a well-rounded program," Kamen wrote in his application, "It is necessary that the schools and the various voluntary agencies in the community cooperate with the recreation board."

"In schools and through activities sponsored by the voluntary agencies, youth shold have the opportunity to participate in sports, games and other outdoor and indoor activities. It gives them an opportunity for creative experiences—to paint, toact, to make things with their hands."

"This theme can be carried into the recreation program, thereby enabling youth useful leisure time which is saitsfying wholesome and educational."

Kamen is a graduate of John Adams high school, New York City, and the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., where he earned his bachelor's degree in physical education.

He was director of vacation playgrounds in New York City in 1939, 1940 and 1941, and later taught science and served as athletic coach in Central high school, Accomack county, Va., and as director of physical education and athletic coach at Norfolk division of the College of William and Mary.

From January 1942 to December 1945, he served in the U. S. Navy. He was honorably discharged with the rank of lieutenant.

Bert Bell Asks States Help on Bribery Laws

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Football league, moving to prevent a recurrence of the attempt to rig its 1946 championship playoff, intends to seek laws making bribery of athletes a criminal offense in every state in which the loop operates.

Following the speedy conviction of Alvin J. Paris on charges of offering bribes to two New York Giants players, league Commissioner Bert Bell said today he already had asked the Detroit Lions to press for action in Michigan, and would ask all other clubs in the loop to seek such legislation.

Bell announced his new move after suspending the Giants' Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes pending disposition of their case sometime next week. They face possible lifetime banishment for failure to report bribe offers.

In Washington yesterday, Filchock said he didn't tell the club of Paris' approach on the ground "My life wouldn't have been worth a nickel if I had." He said he feared physical harm from mobsters if he told anyone.

In the league's drive for anti-bribe legislation Bell disclosed that he had asked his brother, Governor John C. Bell of Pennsylvania, to urge legislation in that state, home of two NFL teams, the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

New York state has had anti-bribe legislation on its books since the Chicago Black Sox baseball scandal of 1919. The New York statute covers not only actual bribery, but holds that even an attempt to bribe or a promise of a bribe are criminal offenses.

The league commissioner said he is cooperating also with officials in Washington regarding possible federal legislation.

Bucks Play 2 Road Contests

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Bucks of Ohio State headed for Iowa City today where they'll play their third Western conference basketball game of the season against the University of Iowa.

After the Iowa tilt Saturday, the Bucks will stop at Champaign on their way home to play the University of Illinois Monday.

Coach Tippy Dye took a 12-man squad on the trip including Bob Donham, Jim Harris, Jack Pfeiffer, Warren Amling, Captain Paul Huston, Jack Underman, Dick Campbell, Bob Bowen, Stu Jones, Les Pugh, Jim Wells and Bob Winter.

George Carson, General Manager of the St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey league, is an enthusiastic movie maker. For the past few years he has recorded many of the Flyers' games on film.

Eddie Elton Knocks Out Brown In Sixth Round

Mansfielder Joe Brown's professional ring victory streak came to an abrupt end in the Armory last night.

Eddie Elton, clever Akron middleweight, put the skids under Joltin' Joe in no uncertain manner in the main event of a punch-happy card. The stoical Akron battler ended Brown's victory skein at six straight and increased his own to 12 in a row.

Brown had kayoed five straight heavyweights but pared down to 168 to meet Elton. Brown found Elton the most elusive target of his career and also the hardest-hitting. Elton did not throw many punches but those he tossed usually reached their mark.

The finish came in the sixth round when Elton landed a stiff left to the jaw. Brown went down in a hurry and was counted out while still trying to struggle to his feet. The time was 54 seconds.

Elton put Brown down for a nine-count in the third stanza with a lightning-like one-two. The News-Journal score card called two rounds even, gave Elton two and Brown one before the sixth-round clincher.

Joe tossed plenty of leather in the direction of Elton, but about the only thing he connected with was the ozone. He tried for a kayo all the way but the Akron ringsmith had too much on the ball.

Dick Alexander ran his pro string to nine straight by taking a six-round decision over Johnny Bryant, Massillon welterweight, in the semi-windup. It was Dick's second win over Bryant in the streak and both were by slight margins.

Alexander gave Bryant a thorough boxing lesson in the first four rounds. During that time Bryant failed to land a clean blow. However, Bryant tagged Alexander in the fifth and Dick lost his composure and tried to slug it out. Neither lad could land any damaging blows in the swat session.

Alexander settled down in the final round to increase his victory margin.

The three prelims all ended in kayoes. Gale Frye won his second local victory by dropping Wally Barkley, Massillon lightweight, in 30 seconds of the second round with a left hook.

Jimmy Davis, Canton, put the dampers on Roger Rucker, Mansfield light-heavy, in the second round of a scheduled four-rounder. Rucker had Davis on the canvas once in the first round and the Canton lad put Roger down twice in the same heat. Rucker was counted out by Referee Bill Harry when he was lax in getting off the mat in the second round.

The real crowd-pleaser was the opener between Chuck Wiggins, Mansfield, and Johnny Streater, Canton heavyweight. Wiggins, fighting his first fight—pro or amateur, finished Streater in 1 min. 44 sec. of the third round. Both lads tossed plenty of leather Wiggins putting Streater down twice in the third.

Referees were Bill Harry and Dick Jones; judges, Paul Carbetta, George Kerestes and Charley Robnolte; timer, Sam Fox.

Loudonville 5 Nips Pioneers

LOUDONVILLE — Loudonville junior high school snapped a four game winning streak of Mansfield's Johnny Appleseed junior high, 38 to 26, here yesterday afternoon.

Howard Tipper, Pioneer captain, was high point man for either squad with 12 points.

Dick Harmon led the eighth grade Appleseeders to a 22 to 10 victory over the Loudonville eighth grade team. Harmon scored 14 points.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

REDDY LISTENS

That is a truth that Reddy found out long ago Some folks think they can live for themselves alone They are the selfish folks, thinking of no one but themselves Sooner or later they find out that they are cheating themselves of all that makes living worth while

Of all the Green Forest and Green Meadow people none is more independent than Reddy Fox He asks no favors of anyone No one tells him to do this or do that He does what he pleases, or tries to But he doesn't live wholly for Reddy Fox He doesn't think only of himself Among all Mother Nature's children there is no truer mate or better father than Reddy Fox

There had been a midwinter thaw The icy crust had melted and with it much of the snow so that only in the Green Forest was much left The Green Meadows were bare and in the Old Pasture the snow was only in patches in sheltered places. No longer could Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse and their friends run about as they pleased without danger as they could while icy crust protected them Reddy was finding it easier to catch enough to keep from starving It was so with others who live by hunting not because they want to live that way but because they must in order to live at all

Reddy was on the bank of the Smiling Pool where there had been clear ice a week before there was now open water Jerry Muskrat's head popped out of the water Reddy grinned at him

"The last time I saw you you were right under my nose I hope you may never be as hungry as I was then, yet I didn't eat you,' said Reddy

It was Jerry's turn to grin He did "How nice of you," said he. "I thought it was you looking down at me through the ice, but I wasn't sure How did you like my swimming!"

'I didn't like it at all,' replied Reddy.

"You didn't? What was wrong with it?" exclaimed Jerry

"It took you away from me and left a hungrier than ever.' replied Reddy He grinned again

"You never will be closer to me than you were then, said Jerry

'That remains to be seen but closer I was you never will be safer than you were then But for once I would have ——

Jerry interrupted Reddy You would have been there but for the ice said he

The pointed black ears of Reddy suddenly were cocked "Listen!" he ejaculated

"Listen to what?' asked Jerry whose own ears were too short and round to be cocked as Reddy's were

"Don't tell me that you don't hear those voices' Reddy exclaimed

Jerry strained his ears and presently in the far distance he heard a faint sound "Do you mean that big?' he said

"Two of them ' declared Reddy

"I hear only one," retorted Jerry Muskrat in his squeaky voice

"I guess your ears are no better than they look to be, and they don't look to be good for much

Two Dogs are barking," said Reddy

"What difference does it make whether it is one or two Dogs we hear? I don't care Dogs don't bother me Even if there are two Dogs, and I believe I do hear two now, they are too far away to even think about Don't tell me, Reddy Fox, that you are afraid of those Dogs so far away we can hardly hear them?' cried Jerry

Not for myself," said Reddy, listening with an anxious look on his sharp face He started off across the Green Meadows, trotting swiftly and pausing now and then the better to listen

"If he isn't afraid for himself who is he afraid for?" muttered Jerry, climbing out on the bank to watch Reddy out of sight "And why is he going to meet those Dogs?"

FAVORITES WIN TIMID BIDDING

NEW YORK —(AP)— Scattered favorites responded to timid bidding in today's stock market although many leaders continued to inhabit losing territory.

As in the preceding session, dealings slowed after a fairly active start. Fractional irregularity persisted near midday with a few losses of 2 points or so in evidence.

Attracting support were American Telephone, International Harvester, Philip Morris, Du Pont, American Smelting and Pennsylvania Railroad. Schenley hit a new 1946-47 low, off 2¼ points on an opening block of 1,000 shares. Other stumbers were Dow Chemical, U. S. Steel, Anaconda, N. Y. Central and Standard Oil (NJ).

$14,856 TO GO IN F. H. CAMPAIGN

Campaign officials of the Friendly House building fund campaign began fighting an up-hill battle today toward the $60,000 goal to be met by next Wednesday.

Today's total was $45,144, a $3,000 gain over Thursday. But officials feared contributions would slacken as the drive progressed toward its close.

"Whether Mansfielders are contacted through other means or not, they are urged to mail or deliver their gifts to the campaign headquarters," Paul Endriss, drive chairman, said.

"A large volume of contributions must come from individual donors in order to put the drive over," Endriss added.

Late Contributors include Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau, $55; B'nai B'rith lodge, $100; Soroptomist club, $50; Rain or Shine class of Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church, $25; Cates Auto Wrecking, $25; Flexible Conveyor company, $100; Women's Society of Christian Service of the Central Methodist church, $25; Stewart Bros. Paint, $25; Mansfield Paint company, $25; City News, $25; Farmers Savings and Trust company, $150; Ursula of Cotta class of St. Luke's Lutheran church, $25; Jelliff and Son jewelers, $25; Kent Rummel Coal company, $25; and Home Materials, $100.

A $300 gift erroneously was reported yesterday as given by the Ven-Mar-Ket. The $300 donation should have been credited to the Ven-Mar Medicine shop, 189 Marion avenue, operated by Lyman Lantz.

PROXY BRIDE SEEKS TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

MOBILE, Ala. —(AP)— Annulment of her proxy marriage to a Bucyrus, O., captain who was stationed on Guam at the time was sought in circuit court here yesterday by Mrs. Margaret Purvis Armentrout, 26, of Mobile.

The ceremony at Kansas City, Kan., last Dec. 2, with her friend, Mrs. Barbara T. Julien of Mobile standing in for Capt. Dale Douglas Armentrout, was performed with a license that improperly listed her as a Kansas City resident, Mrs. Armentrout said in her complaint.

B'NAI B'RITH SEATS OFFICERS

J. G. Tuber as president, headed the list of officers installed at a special district meeting of B'nai B'rith last night at 50 Sturges avenue.

Other officers for the new year are Morton Stern, first vice president; Robert Gerth, second vice president; Leonard Hurwitz, treasurer; Jules Frankel, secretary; A. David Smith, advisory secretary; Charles Winston, warden; Martin Wainsbren, guardian, and Carl Goettinger, chaplain.

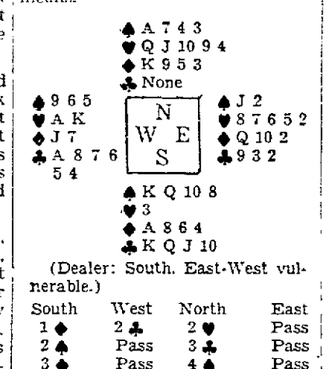
Noah A. Atler, of Denver, Colo., president of district Grand Lodge No. 2, talked to members about the service and educational record of B'nai B'rith, particularly during the war years when, he said, members of the order visited thousands of veterans in hospitals, gave hundreds of bedside radios and reading reflectors and provided bookmobiles for the wounded and sick veterans.

This service, Atler explained, will be continued during the post-war period for as long as it is necessary. He told members that B'nai B'rith received the first civilian citation given by the army and navy for its service record during the war.

Following the meeting, a spaghetti supper was served to the more than 100 who attended from Mansfield, Galion, Marion and Elyria.

Barclay On Bridge

NOBODY CAN think of everything—that is if there really is such a thing as what people call "everything." But the best bridge players try to think of all the angles that bear importantly on the existing situation. Take the matter of your opponent's opening lead, when you are the declarer. Right offhand, it may seem to be from a certain kind of holding in its suit. But think a bit. Possibly the leader has a certain other holding, from which that lead could be quite regular. In that event, maybe you can protect yourself against both possibilities, if you will just weigh the means.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
6 ♠

That was pretty and expert bidding. After North advertised his adequate spade fit for a four-card suit, invited slam, indicated no losers and asked South to cue-bid any ace when he bid the opponents' suit with 3-Clubs, South showed his diamond A at the safe level of only three, whereupon North betokened the spade A by jumping instead of taking it gradually with only three in the trump suit. South's singleton heart then enabled him soundly to essay the slam.

Too bad South wasn't as thorough in the play. West led the heart A.

"Aha!" exclaimed South. "That shows East has the king. I can catch it by leading the queen through it, ruffing if he covers, and discarding when he doesn't."

West switched to the spade 9 on the second trick. The J covered and the K won. The spade Q and A enabled South then to lead the heart Q from dummy. When East played low, South discarded the diamond 4 and West's K set the contract.

If South had reflected, he would have realized that the A is the stock lead from the A-K unguarded as well as when not holding the K. He could have guarded against this by ruffing the heart Q on the second heart trick, returning to dummy with the diamond K, then leading hearts. That method would have protected him against either heart holding.

Prices Flop As Stations War In Shelby

SHELBY — Shelby motorists were filling up their gas tanks to the brim today. The first gasoline price war since before World War II was in full force.

Two major oil companies with filling station outlets have cut the price to 15 9/10 cents a gallon for regular and 17 9/10 cents for high test.

Prices formerly were 19½ and 21½ cents, respectively, in line with the prevailing price in this section of Ohio, including Mansfield.

The cut rate prices first were instituted about a week ago by Spur's filling station which offers premiums with the purchase of gasoline.

Standard Oil company stations cut prices a few days later and since then four filling stations have followed suit.

37½ BILLION BUDGET ASKED BY PRESIDENT

Truman Ignores GOP Demands For Sharper Cuts.

postal rates, the president said, it can increase the $202,000,000 margin of surplus — which he termed "very slight"—to $1,800,000,000.

* * *

Foresees Deficit.

In contrast, he added that he now expected the current fiscal year which ends June 30, to wind up with a deficit of $2,293,000,000 —$393,000,000 worse than he estimated last August. (In October Mr. Truman said twice he expected this year's budget to be in balance by the end of June.)

Upping his 1947 figures for the second time since his record peacetime estimates in last year's burget message, the president said expenditures this year would reach $42,523,000,000—a $1,000,000,000 gain from his August estimates. He ascribed this largely to veterans' programs.

Revenues this fiscal year will reach $40,230,000,000, a gain of $600,000,000 over August estimates and a jump of $8,717,000,000 from his forecast of a year ago as a result of better-than-expected tax collections, Mr. Truman said.

For the coming year, however, the chief executive declared, income is expected to run $2,500,000,000 lower—because of (1) the scheduled drop in excise taxes, (2) the end of excess-profits tax collections and (3) an expected decline in receipts from surplus property sales.

Despite this overall drop, Mr. Truman said collections from direct taxes on individuals would rise $483,000,000 to $19,120,000,000 —assuming there is no income tax cut.

The yield from direct taxes on corporations was placed at $8,270,000,000, a decrease of $957,000,000.

Mr. Truman said his 1948 revenue estimates were based on the assumption that business activity would average "slightly higher" than in boom-time calendar year 1946.

There was no allowance for the possible "recession" some economists have predicted.

The president acknowledged in his message, however, that should a recession come it not only would lower tax receipts but increase outlays to the unemployed and to support farm prices.

Defends Proposals.

Obviously anticipating Republican potshots at his program, the president stoutly defended his spending and tax revenue proposals which, respectively, are about four and six times greater than the pre-war average under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"There is no justification now for tax reduction," Mr. Truman asserted, making it plain he wanted a budget surplus for use exclusively in paring down the $259,300,000,000 national debt, which costs $5,000,000,000 a year in interest charges.

The administration view is that nearly $33,000,000,000 of the costs in the president's budget are "fixed" and not capable of reduction. The other $4,500,000,000 plus covers spending by executive departments and agencies, whose original requests for funds had been trimmed sharply.

Mr. Truman did not mention threats by Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee to use a "sledgehammer and meat ax" in order to whack federal spending down to $29,140,000,000 next year. But he remarked in his message:

"The responsibilities of the federal government cannot be fully met in the fiscal year 1948 at a lower cost than here indicated."

Raps Flat Tax Cut.

The president also took another dig at a bill by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) for a flat 20 per cent tax cut for all persons with incomes up to $300,000 a year.

"Under the wartime tax system, millions of taxpayers with small incomes are called upon to pay high taxes," Mr. Truman said. "When the time comes for taxes to be reduced, these taxpayers will have a high priority among the claimants for tax relief. . . ."

In a statement to reporters who attended a seminar on the budget at the White House on Wednesday, Mr. Truman referred to the budget as a "tight" one.

"It is realistic and as complete as we know how to make it," he said.

Congress, however, will have the last word on the budget itself as well as actual appropriations, for under terms of the new congressional reorganization act the lawmakers will write their own estimates of income and outgo next month.

SHIPS HALTED BY POLAR ICE

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MOUNT OLYMPUS, in Antarctica—(INS)—More than 30 miles of heavy pack ice separated the Antarctic expedition's command forces from the next stretch of open water today, the 10th day in the unpredictable Ross barrier.

Constant aerial reconnaissance by scout planes and helicopter revealed that any course south by southeast—the most direct route to Little America—is virtually impenetrable.

Clear patches of water showed to the southwest. Nevertheless the ships will have to wait for a break in the ice because between their present position and the patches of water the ice is too formidable for even the sturdy icebreaker Northwind.

Rear Admiral Richard H. Cruzen, operations commander of the expedition, said:

"We will just have to sit here until the weather or routes develop in our favor."

Explosion Wrecks Train, Kills 3

DEVILS LAKE, N. D.—(INS)—Great Northern railway officials today were seeking the cause of an explosion that wrecked the locomotive of the westbound "Empire Builder" killing three trainmen and derailing four cars.

SUPERHIGHWAY TO CITY PLANNED

The large city systems would be constructed first, working out from the cities' hearts, the inventory said. Rural expressways will be constructed last.

In the cities of 35,000 to 100,000 population, the report embraces only those facilities needed to carry proposed interstate highway traffic through or around the city.

Three cities, besides Mansfield, are listed:

Springfield—East-west expressway on U. S. 40 for 4.6 miles at a cost of $3,000,000. Lima—North-south expressway on U. S. 25 for 3.86 miles at a cost of $3,000,000. Zanesville—East-west expressway for 2.70 miles on U. S. 40 at a cost of $2,500,000.

For Springfield, Lima and Zanesville, preliminary studies indicate that bypasses will afford necessary relief to congested traffic areas.

Cost-per-mile runs lowest on the proposed rural expressways. Rural projects include:

U. S. Route 25, Cincinnati to Piqua, 52 miles, $50,000,000.

U. S. Route 20, Toledo to Cleveland, 90 miles, $79,000,000.

U. S. Route 20, Cleveland to Painesville, 14 miles, $10,000,000.

State Route 3, Sunbury to Columbus, 16 miles, $8,000,000.

State Route 14, Ravenna to Cleveland, 23 miles, $16,000,000.

RETURN OF MINES TO OWNERS SEEN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Coal industry sources said today they expect official notice within three weeks that the government will return the soft coal mines to their owners on or about April 1.

Capt. N. H. Collison, Federal coal mines administrator, acknowledged that the government is considering a return of the soft coal mines to private ownership before June 30. But he said "no date has been set for the return."

June 30 is the expiration date of the government's authority to seize and hold properties in labor disputes.

Truman Urges Cut In Soil Conservation Subsidies

$330,000,000 LOSS SEEN FOR PRICE SUPPORT

Deficit Would Be Larger If Market Declines.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman today foretold government losses of at least $330,000,000 in supporting prices of 1947 crops and asked congress for measures to prevent "excessive" expenditures on surpluses.

The loss forecast was made in the chief executive's budget message in which a cut in government subsidies to farmers for soil conservation also was urged.

Under Mr. Truman's recommendation, $330,000,000 authorized for soil conservation payments in 1947 would be cut to $200,000,000 in 1948.

His estimate of a $330,000,000 loss on price support operations is based upon the assumption of "continued general prosperity." He said losses would be much larger should farm markets be depressed.

These outlays would not include losses which ultimately might be sustained on surplus wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and other products which are expected to be stored under government price-supporting loans to growers.

* * *

Losses From Surpluses.

The losses would result from government purchase of surplus perishable products. Except for a loss of about $80,000,000 on potatoes, price-support outlays have been negligible this year.

However, with wartime demand declining and with agriculture geared to record production levels, officials have stated that price support operations might cost as much as $1,500,000,000 a year within two or three years.

With this prospect in mind, Mr. Truman told congress that the nation needs farm programs designed to balance supplies with demand so as to avoid "excessive expenditures" for price supports.

"We should facilitate," he said, "the transfer of unnecessary farm labor and resources from agriculture to industrial and other pursuits."

While anticipating increased costs for price supports, the chief executive recommended that agriculture department funds for the next fiscal year be cut $73,588,000 from this year's $1,252,159,351.

In urging a slash of soil conservation subsidies, Mr. Truman said most of the money is being paid to farmers who, "because of their strong position in agriculture," would undoubtedly continue the best farm management practices without the "persuasion of a bonus from the treasury."

HEART DISEASE TAKES BIG TOLL

MILLERSBURG — Heart disease claimed the largest number of Holmes county residents in 1946, with 55 victims, the annual report of the Holmes county health department disclosed today.

Cerebral hemorrhage was second with 29 deaths, and the department reported 17 stillbirths. Other principal causes of death were arteroseterosis, 16; accidents, 15; bronchial pneumonia 12; cancer, eight, uremia, six; premature births, three; peritonitis, two; anemia, two and other diseases, 15.

Total deaths in the county last year was 178, while 467 babies were born, giving the county a gain of 289 residents.

The health department said sex of babies born last year were nearly evenly divided, with 238 males and 229 females.

Eight infants died while under the age of one year, including four who died in their first month of life.

Four of the accidental deaths involved traffic mishaps, while three were asphyxiated, records showed. Two persons were drowned.

New Agriculture Class Established

BUCYRUS—Establishment of a class in agriculture for veterans at Mt. Zion school was announced today by County School Supt. Milton Harman.

The class is the second to be started in the county, a similar class having been inaugurated at North Robinson some time ago. The latest class already has an enrollment of 13 veterans. Warren Cooper, teacher of vocational agriculture, is the teacher of the new group.

Seven Quarantined In Holmes County

MILLERSBURG — Five new cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Holmes county, County Health Nurse Mrs. Ruth Miller announced yesterday. This brings to seven the number of cases now under quarantine in the county.

New cases range in age of four to 20. They include a six year old boy at Mt. Hope, a 20 year old youth at Clark, a four year old boy of Millersburg vicinity, an eight year old girl near Walnut Creek and a four year old boy near Benton.

Youth Admits 6 Auto Thefts; 'I Couldn't Resist Impulse'

SHELBY — Police Chief Leroy Coffey said today Donald Swert, 21, of Willard, had confessed to the theft of three automobiles from Willard and one each from Mansfield, Shelby and Galion.

Coffey quoted the youth as stating that when he saw an automobile with the keys in the ignition "I couldn't resist an impulse to get in and take a drive."

Swert also confessed stealing a major's jeep when he was stationed on Okinawa with the armed forces, Coffey said.

Swert was apprehended earlier this week in Crestline by a Galion motorist from whom he had stolen a car. He is being held by Crawford county authorities, but also is wanted for alleged car thefts in Huron and Richland counties.

The World War II veteran said all of the stolen automobiles were used for joy rides, according to Coffey.

Coffey said Swert confessed stealing a car owned by John Hardie in Shelby and abandoned it in Galion, where he stole the machine in which he was found after being chased to Crestline by the Galion owner of the car.

M'NEAL TO HEAD CRESTLINE BOARD

CRESTLINE — Frank C. McNeal has been elected to succeed Fred G. Hesser as president of the Crestline board of education, it was announced today. Hesser had asked to be relieved of the responsibility.

Other officers named were Harry E. White, vice president, and F. M. Teeter, clerk.

The board passed a resolution accepting the four-mill inside and three-mill outside tax levy for operating expenses.

Veterans Also Deserve Consideration Under 'Portal-To-Portal' Pay Theory

WHETHER seriously, or with a touch of grim humor, some of the veterans of World War II are presenting the thought that if "portal-to-portal" back pay is to be granted to industrial employes, to the extent of billions of dollars, the same principle should be applied to returned veterans and men still in military service.

It is even being suggested that various veterans' organizations—the American Legion, VFW, Amvets, AVC, DAV, and others—may have thus far been rather negligent in failing to retain a flock of lawyers to build up a case based on the "portal-to-portal" theory, including, of course, a claim for compensation equal to that paid industrial workers during the war.

Recognizing the importance of war work, it is difficult for many veterans to see why such relatively safe work at home was worth more—in money—than the military service they performed, at the risk of their lives and under conditions which sometimes involved great hardships and extreme discomfort.

And they remember that they were doing all this for less pay per month than some war workers were getting per day!

Also keenly in mind are the many returned veterans who are in hospitals, destined to endure years of suffering—and others who lost an arm or a leg, even an occasional one with both legs and arms amputated. What is to be the fair compensation for such as these, if their fellow-workers who stayed safely at home are to receive extra pay for work they didn't do!

One writer on this subject, puts it: "The guys overseas felt that war workers had as much of a duty to perform as the soldiers did; that they should work overtime, or all night, if necessary and not stick up the taxpayers for it. The soldiers did not get paid for extra guard duty, or for nights spent in bomb shelters, or traveling all night in truck convoys . . ."

There will be a rejoinder, of course, that military service is "a patriotic duty," that the great debt of gratitude to veterans "can never be paid"—but what greater obligation rests upon one American than another in time of war—and why should the producers of munitions and other war supplies be more highly paid or live more comfortably than those who did the actual fighting, suffering and dying?

It will be said, also, that it would be financially ruinous to attempt to equalize the "back pay" for veterans with that of factory workers during the war—but would that idea be any more fantastic than the demands for billions of dollars in "portal-to-portal" pay now being made by various union labor organizations?

Yes, it would take many billions of dollars . . . maybe hundreds of billions . . . possibly trillions . . . but what do strings of ciphers amount to when jockeyed by self-seeking labor leaders who are chiefly concerned about assuring their own tenure in highly lucrative positions.

Thoughtful people, which naturally includes a majority of those who are being made to appear to be demanding "portal-to-portal" pay, as a result of suits already filed, or in prospect, seem inclined to regard the whole thing as a joke—but it is not a joke to the returned service men who have recollections of what they went through and who find many of their stay-at-home associates comfortably housed, spending liberally out of good pay—and asking for more money—while countless veterans are without homes or crowded in with relatives . . . because more attention has been given to politics, profits and appeasement of labor leaders than to the welfare of veterans.

If special privileges are to be granted, or extra compensation awarded, it is the underpaid veterans who should receive first consideration—and if the "portal-to-portal" fantasy, as applied to customary industrial practices, is to attain the status of court sanction, then no demands made upon "the government" by veterans' organizations can be fairly regarded as extreme.

The element of ridicule has already entered so strongly into public discussion of "portal-to-portal" pay that mention of the subject is likely to evoke a laugh—except among ex-service men, who are more inclined to sneer.

Cities Aim Toward Better Government

ARE CITIES better or worse governed than forty years ago? Luther Gulick, president of the Institute of Public Administration, answered this question at the recent 50th anniversary of the National Municipal League. He cites many gains, but finds much still remains to be done.

One definite gain is that there is far less direct thievery from the public treasury. Better accounting systems are partly responsible. There is less political murder and other forms of violence, and less vote fraud. Corruption in connection with the sale of franchises has been reduced, and the patronage deals are far less raw. The fundamental cause of all these is the wiser and less partisan attitude of the average city voter.

On the other side are the consequences of a far more complicated scheme of government. Administration needs many more technical experts, and thus runs the risk of becoming bureaucratic. With government operations on a far larger scale there is more chance for rake-off and special privilege. A new area for graft is opened by the vast increase of new regulations, many of which call for lawyers to represent the citizen. Finally city boundaries have not changed with the changes of population. Too many cities retain slum sections while the trend of new home-building is toward suburban areas.

Still, forty years ago few would have anticipated the improvements that have come about in city government.

Why the Rent Wasn't Raised

HERE is a story that has an interesting slant—and one which may offer a suggestion in the event of similar situations arising. The sanitary engineer and the planning commission of a large metropolitan county occupied rented quarters. A new landlord announced rent increases of 70 per cent.

"Very well," said the officials, "then we will ask the county board of tax revision to raise the tax valuation of your building."

"Oh!" said the landlord, "perhaps the raise can be reconsidered." It was.

Portal-to-Portal Paay For Miners Started Present Deluge of Suits

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Some of the biggest lawyers on Wall Street are now burning the midnight oil trying to figure out ways and means of beating portal-to-portal lawsuits, while high-paid lobbyists are pulling wires to stop portal-to-portal back payments.

What these high-powered legal brains don't know, however, is that a $65-a-week CIO organizer, Ben Riskind, formerly with the CIO mine, mill and smelter workers, concocted the idea which is causing them so much trouble.

It was Riskind—not a lawyer—who poured over the 1938 Fair Labor Standards Act passed primarily to halt sweatshop conditions in the needle trades and which provides that employes must be paid "for hours worked." Those last three words "for hours worked" seemed awfully important to Riskind, but at first he couldn't even get his own CIO colleagues interested.

Finally, however, he sold his idea to Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, and persuaded him to start suit on behalf of the CIO metal miners who had to spend extra time traveling through mine shafts to their point of work.

Pressman made a thorough study of the question, discovered that in Europe miners were paid from the time they entered the mine, that in Arizona portal-to-portal pay was the basic law of the state, and that Montana had passed a portal-to-portal law that later was killed by the state supreme court.

On the strength of this research, suit was filed against the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel. This turned out to be one of the most important cases in labor history, but big corporation lawyers at the time failed to grasp its significance. The case finally got up to the Supreme Court, which ruled in 1942 in favor of portal-to-portal by a 5-4 decision. Next year, John L. Lewis, taking a cue from CIO attorneys, won "portal-to-portal" for his miners.

In 1944, the CIO legal brain trust decided to test portal-to-portal in other industries, and started the now famous Mount Clemens pottery case. This company required its employes to be in the plant 14 minutes before the actual starting time, and the Supreme Court has now held this to be working time.

All last summer, CIO chief Phil Murray had his legal staff discussed the significance of the Supreme Court act and what they should do about it. All last year, also, the same Wall Street legal talent which had ignored the importance of the Wagner Act a decade before seemed to ignore the Mount Clemens decision. They filed no briefs as a friend of the court, but let the case be battled out by relatively obscure lawyers.

Ironically, it was management which finally made up Murray's mind to start the billions of dollars' worth of suits now rolling through the courts.

When Murray saw business preparing its anti-labor legislation in the new congress, he decided to fight back. Best way to consolidate union membership, he figured, was to show them what a fat plum the union could win; how workers who've never had $500 in the bank could look forward to getting three times that much in lump sum through the portal-to-portal suits.

Truman Keeps Cheerful.

Every White House caller these days comes out of the inner sanctum remarking on how well and high-spirited President Truman looks. Expecting him to appear bowed and discouraged by the weight of his office, they remark:

"He don't seem to have a care in the world."

Even during the middle of the coal strike, when Truman cabinet members were worried sick over the economic consequences to the country, White House callers came out to report that the president seemed to be in fine fettle.

One unofficial explanation is that, since November, the president feels that the Republicans have removed part of the responsibility of leadership from his shoulders. No matter what he does, it can't be right in GOP eyes; therefore, he might as well be philosophical about it.

Another explanation is that, since November, Truman feels he is no longer under any obligation to carry on the Roosevelt New Deal program.

The November balloting showed that the majority of the people wanted a change, argue some White House advisers, so Truman has a mandate to desert the Roosevelt program for his own.

Whatever the explanation, the president seems to be the height of good humor at all times. Standing in a corridor of congress on Monday, ready to deliver his State of the Union message, he was bantering with Republican senators who asked whether he would propose a program which Republicans could support.

"Don't worry about that," shot back the chief executive. "I'm sure we're going to get along all right during this congress."

Government In Exile.

A distinguished group of ex-New Dealers were gathered at a meeting of the Union for Democratic Action the other day, including Mrs. Roosevelt, ex-OPA chief Chester Bowles, OPA founder Leon Henderson, Paul Porter, another OPA chief, and ex-housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt.

Boris Shishkin, chief economist for the AFL, strode into the room. Taking one look at the distinguished group, he remarked:

"The government in exile!"

Merry-Go-Round.

Katherine Kennedy Brown, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, ran into Dolly Gann precedence trouble when she gave a dinner for 100 guests in honor of new Senator John Bricker. Mrs. Brown had planned to have speeches, but, with Senators Bricker and Taft and Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton all on hand, she decided she had too many presidential hopefuls to figure out how to introduce them. So when dinner was over she got up and started talking with friends. There were no speeches . . . GOP senate majority leader White of Maine was No. 1 escort to President Truman when the latter delivered his message to congress, with several other senators ranking next. "Such are the political fates," sighed ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn as he took his place in the mid-rear. "As speaker I used to walk ahead of these senators. Now I have to walk behind." . . . When new Speaker Joe Martin posed for photographers, one of them said: "Oh, come on, Mr. Speaker, let's have a big grin." "You'll have to forgive me, boys," replied Martin, "but this isn't a grinning job." . . . Democratic Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania happened to meet his new Republican colleague, Edward Martin, in the senate corridor the other day. "Well, Governor," greeted Myers. "I hope you'll call on my office for any help we can give you while you're here. If there's anything we can do for a fellow-Pennsylvanian, you just let us know."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Jan. 10, 1927

Vic Donahey was inaugurated as governor of Ohio for third consecutive term.

Experienced curator from Columbus inspected museum in Memorial building and found it contained much valuable material.

Curtis E. McBride was re-elected president of the Richland County Law Library association, and it was reported that 100 new books had been added to library during year.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Casper Schmidt, 15 Lida street.

City of Mansfield spent $2,712 for poor relief during previous year, Mayor Ports reported.

Eleven-year-old Theodore Marinis suffered leg fracture when bobsled overturned on Adams street hill.

Dr. J. A. Garber, of Ashland college, was speaker at meeting of Community School of Leadership Training, held at First Lutheran church.

Mrs. P. M. Ringer, West Fifth street, went to Atlanta, Ga., to spend winter.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On January 11, 1943, Great Britain and the United States and other special rights in that signed treaties with China relinquishing their extra-territorial country.

Dave Boone Says:

TO ME the new animal created in Washington by Harry Truman is half elephant and half mule. Each is quite ivory bearing, but most traits of the squirrel, the wild jackass, and the bird that flies backwards to see where it has been are missing.

I don't know about that recommendation for another commission, this one to make "an exhaustive study of labor management problems and find the basic causes of difficulties" between 'em. There are so many commissions looking into things already that the eastbound and the westbound ones are always colliding with those moving southbound.

Judge Beard, maker of the original portal-to-portal decision, is visiting New York. I hear a taxicab driver charged him double because, in getting into the cab on one side and leaving on the other, two portals were involved.

Right to Be Heard Is Carefully Guarded.

WASHINGTON — Final footnotes on the Bilbo fracas:

Now that it's all over, temporarily at least, a lot of sober, level-headed citizens about town whose love for Theodore G. Bilbo approximates their affection for a king cobra still are glad The Man was not summarily booted out of the senate without having had a chance to speak his piece from the floor.

Their reasons are simple and well worth hearing.

They think it would have set a dangerous precedent for future perhaps high-minded barring of so-called "undesirable" senators from the land's most exclusive club.

They point out that, whatever the basic reasons behind the battle over Bilbo, it finally boiled down to a matter of political maneuvering and parliamentary expedient.

In other words, he finally could have been barred by the Republicans, simply and solely because they carried a majority. Which would mean that future senators could bar any single member of the minority party who happened at the moment to be under charges of some sort of misconduct—regardless of whether that member had been given public opportunity to defend himself!

It is all very well, in that regard, to point out that Bilbo was given opportunity to defend himself at the two special senate hearings which probed his activities. However, there is no denying that both of those committees could have conducted their hearings behind locked doors, had they so desired.

The fact that they were open hearings does not eliminate the possibility that if such committee reports can constitute basis for barring a senator, future senates might easily "investigate" and unseat a newly-elected member without the general public which elected him ever knowing on what grounds he was rejected.

Carry that possibility to its most unlikely extreme, and you can see where the majority might eliminate its entire opposition in the highest legislative body in the land—and without publicly explaining a single reason why!

Unlikely? Yes. But still a dangerous precedent.

As the situation now stands, Mississippi's senior senator can return to defend himself from the senate floor—and you can rest assured that every newspaper and radio reporter in the gallery will see to it that his defense gets as much publicity as his prosecution.

Coincidentally, the strength of the nation's two-party system was demonstrated in an entirely different way during the temporary closing of the Bilbo case.

Although the newly-dominant Republicans led the fight against Bilbo, it was two Democrats who literally stole the show during the proceedings—Glen Taylor of Idaho and Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

It was Taylor who beat the Republicans to the punch in demanding that Bilbo be barred, thus preventing the battle from developing solely (did someone say "and sordidly?") along party lines. Even veteran senators who often have ridiculed the young westerner's brashness nodded approval of that particular move.

And once again, it was the senate's great arbiter — big, slow-moving, thoughtful-speaking Alben Barkley—who stopped the bickering by bringing forward a compromise plan to which both sides could agree.

True, it is a Republican senate, in the technical sense of the word.

But there could be no doubt, after that demonstration, that the leader of the minority party—the one man who ever got an almost instantaneous public apology out of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt—still remains a dominant force in the United States senate.

Which, in a two-party system, is as it should be.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE Republican congress has had three messages from President Truman all ending in R.S.V.P. . . . meaning "Republicans Should Vaccinate Politics."

* * *

The present outlook is that the Republicans will give the president everything he wants . . . provided he wants the same things they want.

* * *

As one legislator put it "he should have learned early in life that Santa Claus doesn't bring everything on the list."

* * *

However Mr. Truman's appointment of General Marshall has toned up the state department. . . . I hear one assistant secretary has turned in his spats for spurs.

* * *

General Marshall is the first professional soldier to be secretary of state and the 19th man to be mentioned for the presidency.

* * *

There seems to be an impression that ex-GI's are eaged to vote for their old general. . . . Most of those I've met just want to meet their old sergeant.

Control of Atomic Energy Still Uncertain.

WASHINGTON — Trouble is brewing along the atom front in the new Republican congress.

It is developing broadly against the background of our controversy with Russia over atomic-bomb control.

This has caused an obviously stiffened attitude among Republicans toward the bomb, its control, the keeping of the so-called "secrets," and the control of atomic energy for civilian as well as military purposes.

The whole subject has been discussed in private conferences among Republican leaders. It is causing some concern among administration leaders. They fear the situation may be exploited by various interests, business and military, to break down the policy established by congress in the McMahon Act—for civilian control and for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes in the common public interest, and without any monopolistic control.

The atomic energy commission, itself, offers the first target. Its five members must be confirmed by the senate.

Its chairman, David Lilienthal, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority, will draw attack from a familiar source, Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), who carried on a constant feud with Mr. Lilienthal in an effort to get control of patronage in the vast TVA project.

While the Tennessee senator's opposition does not carry too much weight—it is recognized as a personal scrap—an issue might develop if he were joined by Republicans. There are rumors that this might happen. The Lilienthal appointment, made some time ago by President Truman, has been discussed by Republicans.

Mr. Lilienthal made a fine record in TVA, and his appointment as chairman of the atomic energy commission was widely hailed. The only ground thus far suggested for an attack on him is that he is "too progressive" because he was identified with a New Deal agency. That seems a flimsy excuse, and the public would so regard it, but among some Republicans such grounds often are held sufficient.

It would be a sorry spectacle to see an attack on the able and competent public official.

It would be unfortunate, too, if other interests should open an attack on the basic law which was sponsored by Senator McMahon (D., Conn.) But this could happen. The atmosphere seems favorable.

Private interests, including patent lawyers, are all set to try to break down the compulsory licensing of the McMahon Act. This requires that patents for utilization of atomic energy for peacetime purposes be licensed to all comers on a fee basis, so there can be no exclusive patent rights.

The government controls production of fissionable materials exclusively, both for military and civilian purposes. Therefore it must exercise control in the common interest and for national safety in utilization of atomic energy. Congress decided that.

There are indications also that renewed interest in protecting "secrecy" of the atomic bomb is encouraging those who would like additional military control over atomic energy.

That issue was fought out once, with congress setting up civilian control under demands from President Truman and pressure from scientists. The scientists saw great danger in military control and felt, further, that it would retard development of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

This is an issue in which the public is deeply concerned.

High Taxes Necessary to Reduce Huge Debt.

WASHINGTON—The battle of the budget will be fought at three different levels. The end is likely to be a confused compromise which will force many government departments to pinch off useful and even essential services.

Level No. 1, at the bottom of the budgetary mountain, is the estimate of Chairman John Taber of the house appropriations committee that the federal government can get along on $29,500,000,000.

Taber is the champion economizer among the Republicans. His weapon is a meat-axe rather than a scalpel.

Level No. 2, halfway up, is the estimate of Sen. Robert A. Taft, chairman of the Republican committee on policy in the senate. Taft believes that a rough total of $32,500,000,000 will be ample for all the needs of the government in the coming fiscal year. Taft's accounting runs this way:

The armed services: $12,000,000,000.

Veterans: $7,000,000,000.

Service on the debt: $5,000,000,000.

For all other government services: $8,500,000,000.

The last figure is, in Taft's opinion, perhaps even over-generous. Certainly, he thinks, it is more than enough to cover the proper functions of the federal machine. It would include a half billion dollars for foreign loans in addition to the commitment already made to Great Britain.

Level No. 3, at the top of the budgetary mountain, is the official estimate which President Truman will send to congress. Advance reports put that at $37,000,000,000—from 5 to 5½ billion above the maximum that Taft believes essential.

One difference between the Taft and the Truman budgets is in the amount of debt to be retired. Advance reports put that figure, in the official budget, at $2,000,000,000. In Taft's budget, about $1,000,000,000 is allowed for debt reduction.

But the sharpest difference between the Democrat in the White House and the Republicans on Capitol Hill is likely to be over tax reduction. It appears that Rep. Harold Knutson's proposed 2 per cent cut in the income tax has much wider support than at first appeared probable.

A second sharp difference between the White House and congress is bound to come over continuation of wartime excise taxes. Mr. Truman urged in his State of the Union message that these taxes be continued through the coming fiscal year. Republican leaders in both senate and house are in favor of repealing them almost immediately.

There is a possibility of a compromise, however. Senate leaders may recommend continuation of the wartime taxes on liquor while favoring the repeal of those on furs, jewelry and cosmetics. This would leave the government about half the revenue it receives from present excise taxes.

But even if this is possible, it's hard to see how a tax cut can be justified except as a piece of political bait for 1948. Every possible bit of surplus should go toward scaling down the debt and thereby the cost of servicing the debt.

We must not expect to escape so lightly the consequences of the war. Cutting taxes is easy. Cutting the debt is a lot harder.

Farmer's Diary: "We Know So Little."

I HAVE noticed with interest a wild apple tree that grows along a rotted line fence between two commercial orchards. The trunk is about 12 inches through, and the top untouched by pruning shears. Tall grass and rotting rails are about its roots so thick that my feet went in to the ankles. Last fall the outer branches hung full of yellow, pink-cheeked fruit. The flavor was insipid, but they hung on to the branches until late.

Every winter that farmer prunes away the "sucker shoots" until the trees conform to the orthodox pattern. Every year he sprays ten times or so, to keep away insect pests and fungi. Yet here, on the untouched wild tree, perfectly formed fruit of nature's own growing and deep green leaves that withstand drought and storm are to be seen.

The problem of an orchardist is to produce perfect fruit in the best way. Any measures that make healthier trees are to be encouraged. Research seems to show that too much spray is possible. By poisoning the outer surface of leaves and fruit, continuously for many years a man may do more harm than good.

The newest scientific research that I have found is bent on immunizing the tree against disease and pests. One authority says that pests are simply an evidence of disease. They are Nature's way of removing the unfit. Healthy trees, like healthy folks, have enough natural resistance to keep well under most conditions.

Similarly with pruning. It doesn't make sense to keep cutting off the new growth, when the fruit of best color and flavor is always on the outside where the sun strikes it. A good letting alone is what some orchards need . . . and some encouragement for the roots that go seeking food in the soil. Instead of wetting the ground with poison spray, it seems more sensible to me that healthier trees come about through building up the food content of the soil. Clean cultivation can be overdone. Hair roots can be destroyed. Mulch, manure, moisture and earthworms furnish cheaper and healthier insurance.

Working in partnership with natural laws is the best policy, I guess, in any business. The real trouble is, we are all so ignorant.

ODD FACT

It takes about $60,000 a year for the upkeep of the Statue of Liberty national monument. Elevator fees, sale of concessions, etc., make the monument about 50 per cent self-supporting.

COLORFUL LIFE STORY TOLD BY JAMES M. COX

Ex-Ohio Governor Describes His Active Career.

The autobiography of James M. Cox, who has seen much to write about in a long public career, will be one of the new books to be released at the Mansfield Public library next Monday.

As former congressman, governor of Ohio, and presidential candidate in 1920, Cox has been close to the nation's political scene for many years. He's also one of the nation's leading newspaper publishers.

His book, THE JOURNEY THROUGH THE YEARS, is the story of his life and the people he has met.

THE ANGELIC AVENGERS, a novel by Pierre Andrezel, sold 30,000 copies in Denmark under Nazi rule. The story takes place in England and France in the 1840's. It is an amazing novel in the romantic tradition depicting crime and punishment. It is fast-moving and fantastic with an artless and lovely heroine. In Denmark it's style has been compared to that of Jane Austen and Edgar Allen Poe.

A story of the American occupation of Germany, as told by Gustave, a Frenchman, who had been a prisoner, is told in the novel, MY PAST IS AN EVIL RIVER, by George Millar. Gustave remains in Germany as servant and protector to Frau Rehbach, who lost her husband and son in the war. The action of the novel opens with the arrival of one of Hitler's closest friends and the plot revolves around Gustave's efforts to protect Frau Rehbach.

Other fiction: BIG CLOCK, Fearing; PUZZLE FOR FIENDS Webb; ROLL, JORDON, ROLL, Clark; RED CLARK AT THE SHOWDOWN, Young.

Margaret Bourke-White's book, "DEAR FATHERLAND, REST QUIETLY" is a fascinating and shocking revelation of how the German people act and think amid the moral and physical remains of defeat. Margaret Bourke-White spoke to and photographed many in the conquered Fatherland from plain villagers to once mighty armament manufacturers.

NEW GUINEA HEADHUNT, by Caroline Mytinger, is the exciting and highly entertaining adventure of two American women on a bloodless headhunt. Caroline Mytinger and Margaret Warner went to New Guinea to paint portraits of the Papuans and their curiosity led them behind the scenes. They met all sorts of difficulties, but always able to see the comical side of their misadventures, they had a lot of fun.

Superstitious Gents Worried By Sentimental Ballad Vogue

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Sentimental ballads topped American song titles during 1946 and now Broadway is worried.

Superstitious gents are taking a fast dollar these days and sewing it into their pockets.

"And trouble'll come," warned Song-Writer Roy Brodsky, shivering slightly. "When these slow, sad tunes get the public's big eye it always makes me uneasy."

Silly tunes of the past, like "Chickery Chick," or the "Cement Mixer" just don't rate any longer. "Ashby De La Zooch Castle Aubey" dropped dead before it even started, while "Onesie, Twosie, I Love Yousie" never really threatened.

Billboard magazine's honor roll shows that "The Gypsy" and "To Each His Own"—two slick tear jerkers—led all the rest.

"And things aren't apt to get any better," Brodsky said sadly. He and his partner, Sid Tepper, like to write silly songs.

"The new craze will be a song called "How Are Things In Glocca Morra?" he said. "It sounds like a screwballer, but isn't. It's from the new musical Finian's Rainbow. (and all about some guy who wants to know what gives back home in a little Irish town.)

"It's sad, and definitely a ballad."

Basis of the meeting will be the traffic check made by the state highway department in 1944-45 as to the possibility of by-passing Mansfield with U. S. Routes 42 and 30 with a view to relieving the city's congested traffic condition.

ARIED PLANE TYPES COMING

DETROIT — (U.P.) — More new pes of aircraft will be introced in 1947 than in any previous ar in American air transporta- n history, it was reported today the closing sessions of the an- al meeting of the Society of tomotive Engineers.

In an address last night before e SAE, George T. Christopher, sident of the Packard Motor r company, joined management okesmen who have warned con- ess against "impulsive" anti- or legislation. He urged con- essmen to be "calm and, above thoughtful" instead of "bitter d panicky."

The Trans-World spokesman d the use of fuel injection sys- ms will increase safety and re- t in lower operating costs this ar. He predicted, however, that gas turbine powered aircraft ll be used in commercial service 1947.

Another SAE speaker today, pt. W. C. Latrobe of the navy partment's bureau of ships, said vy ships in the future may be erated on fuels from new urces. Tests have demonstrated e possibility of running vessels gasoline and diesel fuels made om coal, natural gas and oil ale, he said.

The cash savings accumulated U. S. consumers during World ar II were as large as the total ount they actually spent for ods and services in 1945.

Hollywood's $64 Questions—Now, honestly, did you ever dream the day would come when Bette Davis and Greer Garson might quite logically yearn for the kind of parts Joan Crawford has been getting? . . . How come Hollywood's heaviest feminine money-earner last annum (according to the published statistics), was Carmen Miranda, who is not a tremendous box office star, a great beauty nor a fine actress? . . . What do the cinema producers, who had him irrevocably typed as the big, blundering dope who never got the girl, think of Ralph Bellamy's suave straight acting triumph in "State of the Union"—with two ladies vying for his heart? . . . What ever became of Laurel and Hardy? Or, for that matter, what ever became of the Andy Hardy films? . . . Isn't it strange, and rather sad, that the studios haven't found worthy follow-up vehicles for the not-so-long ago performing triumphs of James ("A Tree Grows In Brooklyn") Dunn and Katina ("For Whom the Bell Tolls") Paxinou?

* * *

Has anybody ever thought to ask the erstwhile Flapper's Crown Prince—Rudy Vallee—his opinion of the Bobby Soxer's Swoon Prince—Frankie Boy? . . . Sure you can be taller than she is, boys, but do you feel you must when you consider how the damsels go dreamy over such half-pint heart throbs as James Cagney, Alan Ladd and The Voice? . . . What does Rita Hayworth do with all her old clothes? . . . What does Lana Turner do with all HER old beaus? . . . Do you think the "Life Of Valentino" will be filmed during ours? . . . Errol Flynn's long anticipated first novel certainly went over with a hush, didn't it?

* * *

Isn't it a shame that more space isn't given to Hollywood's good side, and less to the confusing remarriages and quickie romances? . . . Is Bing Crosby aware that the only gent who can truthfully claim he made a fortune on the horses is the chap who owns Gallant Bess, the film star filly? . . . Isn't Ingrid Bergman fortunate in always being so great and first rate that she's never learned about the Birds (critical) and the B's (cinematic)? . . . Do you realize that Bob Hope, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Crawford, Pat O'Brien and Burns and Allen are only a few of the many who make the film colony surpass any group in the world in the number of orphans adopted and given parental affection and educational advantages? . . . Who do you suppose will be the first screen star to do a Gertrude Lawrence or Sophie Tucker by having her (or his) autobiography put between covers.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, January 10.

Under an obscure, confused, perplexed or even vicious state of mind or emotions this day is likely to bring into focus some rather disagreeable and regrettable situations. These affect not only business, but social, domestic and professional relations, with money, happiness and peace of mind under strangely disturbed conditions. It is probable that love affairs might be at the base of quite erratic and unaccountable conduct or emotional distress.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves plunged into a year in which their strange emotional stresses or bewildered state of mind, may combine to make it advisable to seek diversion, relaxation or complete rest from active affairs. Romantic, social, cultural and business associations may be so complex and involved that it might be as well to postpone important matters until a more illuminated and responsible insight into dubious circumstances is indicated. A season of philosophical or mystical study might bring rest and peace of mind, with harmony and personal solace.

* * *

For Saturday, January 11.

Highly stimulated energies and emotions, incited by a sudden and surprising turn of events, may spur into high crises flagging ideas and impulses, recently held up by inertia or static mental and spiritual faculties. This event may be due to the friendly intervention of those in power, whose plans may have far-reaching and dramatic spur of action. These may have inspiring and stimulating forces, inciting to much enterprise and initiative, even to the point of aggressive and strenuous activities. The mind is ignited to fine purpose, with sudden change, keen action and final prosperity and prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

It seems that women on the verge of reducing are twice as curious as ordinarily, and three times as gullible. They write to ask if there is any truth in the theory that a craving for anything like sweets, is a sign the system needs them Is there anything in the idea that certain combinations of foods make fat and others help to break down fat? Does smoking with the meals dull the appetite? Is cottage cheese reducing? What about lemons? Are hard-boiled eggs more slimming than soft-boiled eggs? And is grape juice really reducing?

We'll take them in order Special cravings for sweets or other foods are no sign that is what your system needs If you have an almost irresistible longing for sweets it's because you have always eaten sweets You like them, you're used to them and you miss them But it's not your system that craves them and the less concentrated sweets you eat, the less you will crave them

A constant craving to overeat, however, can be a sign of hidden hunger, or malnutrition, excess weight to the contrary On a balanced, varied diet which supplies all the nutrition esentials you will be less tempted to overeat even though you are eating fewer calories than ordinarily

There is nothing to the food combination ideas. A food, or a combination of foods, is as fattening as its total calories and there is no food that helps to consume fat Grapefruit, pickles, lemons, etc, have a reducing reputation, but they have no power over the pounds Grapefruit is an excellent food for reducers. For 50 calories it furnishes 1200 units of Vitamin C practically taking care of the daily requirement, which is 1400 units Lemon juice in hot water before breakfast is fine as it tends to encourage elimination But lemon juice can't dissolve fat

Smoking before or with meals is believed to inhibit hunger contractions of the stomach and, to that extent dulls the appetite For those who smoke, the ideal time is at the end of the meal, preferably in place of 350 calories of dessert

Cottage cheese is not reducing, but it is a good source of protein, and on a high protein diet it is easier to burn up excess fat Soft or hard-boiled eggs have the same calorie value but hard-boiled eggs stick to the ribs longer and have a higher satiety value You don't get hungry again as soon

Nothing is reducing literally. Grape juice in itself is not reducing But it is cloyingly sweet and when taken before a meal takes the edge off a ravenous appetite That makes it easier to cut calories, so indirectly, grape juice is reducing

Shy Girl Should Cultivate A Little Healthy Conceit

By MME. QUI VIVE

Poor little shy girl! She sits on the sidelines when the more popular lassies dance No big boys clang her telephone An unhappy child if ever there was one Parents must make every effort to be patient sympathetic, helpful The wise mother will arrange parties make the home attractive She can invite her own friends ask them to bring their sons and daughters A pleasant social atmosphere in the home is a great help toward ridding a girl of self-consciousness, which is social fear —fear that one will say something wrong, fear that one will make a wrong move Of course it is nonsense, because other people aren't aware of our behavior as much as we fancy But there it is And it is painful to the point of heartbreak

Daughter should go to church, join a young people's society These fellowships are the source of much pleasure Amusements are planned, are often very gay and festive They will give the shy girl a chance to try her social wings, to mix with boys and girls of her own age She has to make the plunge Once made, who can tell? Some day she may awaken in full bloom, be able to chatter like the rest of them Thousands have done that Her world will be brighter her life more normal

The wise mother will not refer to daughter's shyness She will ignore this unhappy condition talk and act as if the child were like other girls enjoying youth's delights

One thing for the self-conscious girl to remember she can't be nice to people unless she has nice thoughts about them Let her think kindly of her acquaintances, not envy them, or feel resentment In time she will generate warmth of manner, may be able to express it Let her make it a practice to tell her girl friends that they look sweet, that their clothes are pretty Everyone loves attention of that kind

When she meets a new boy, she should endeavor to find out what his interests are, what studies and sports he likes A show of interest on her part will make him talk fast enough He will soon be telling her what a great fellow he is; the two of them will be on terms of close companionship

It won't do to harbor the idea that boys and girls have excluded her from the social circle. That may not be the case. She has retired into herself and nobody will take the trouble to draw her out of her self-imposed retirement. She must step forth bravely, make her own way.

Your reporter realizes that this is a tough problem But it must be tackled early and must be overcome There are men and women who have been afflicted all their lives long, and the affliction has interfered with their business as well as their social life

Hand yourself a little apple sauce, Shy Girl. Cultivate a little healthy conceit.

Hospitals Find Mental Ills Big Problem, Physician Says

More hospital beds are occupied by the mentally ill in the United States than by patients suffering from all other ailments, Dr. R. H Barnes, Mansfield physician, said yesterday in a talk before the Mansfield Kiwanis club

Dr Barnes, who spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, discussed his experiences as a major and Air Force flight surgeon in World War II.

"It is estimated that 65 per cent of the patients in doctor's waiting rooms are there because of some sort of emotional unbalance," Dr Barnes said

"This sickness is the result of unbalanced living on the part of the individual and those with whom he lives.

"The answer to what is needed is a balanced human being based on the proper mixtures of work, play, love, and worship crowned by common sense"

L. W Birch was program chairman at the luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland hotel

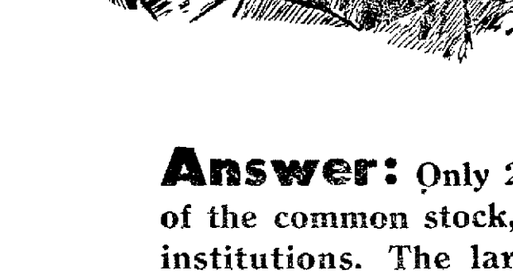
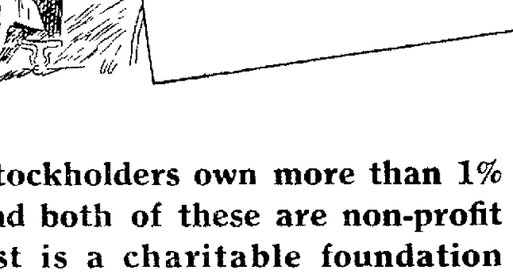
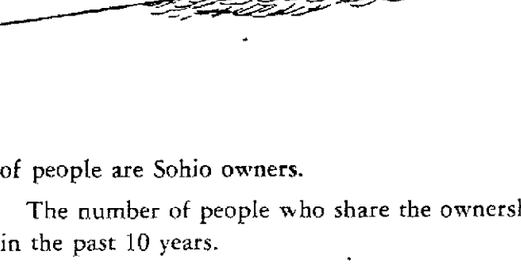
HERE ARE SOME TYPICAL SOHIO OWNERS . . . . . Just for fun we picked out a typical Ohio town and checked to see who our stockholders were. The town was Lima, and we found we had 10 stockholders. Our photographer was able to find and photograph 6 of them Here they are—just folks like the rest of us—



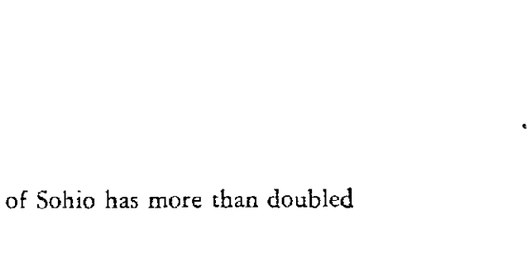
Shareholder Abe Wise spends a lot of time being a granddad to husky young Billy Rentz Jr shown here sitting on granddaddy's knee Mr Wise breaks away long enough to manage his modest investment and real estate business up town at 215 Opera House Block



Shareholder Wallace H King and his wife reside in a comfortable two family home at 683 West Market Street Mr. King was going out to dinner when we caught him for this picture. He has built up a successful life insurance agency with offices in the National Bank Building.



Shareholder Jacob Wise owns a parking lot on West Street A bachelor, he lives with his brother Mr. Wise says his hobbies are 'playing rummy and poker, but never drawing to an inside straight" During the war he was able to bring his niece and her family over from the old country and buy her a home in Lima.



In the upstairs apartment of this home at 903½ West Spring Street, we found Mrs Caroline J Becker, who recently sold her former home at 1052 West Elm Street. Mrs. Becker is the widow of former Lima City Manager Becker who died in 1941. She is very proud of her investment in Sohio.

Sohioan Tony Tusk, who lives at 128 West Water Street, is a pumper at Sohio's Lima Refinery, and a shareholder in his company He started with Sohio in 1915, and is an enthusiastic member of the company's Quarter Century Club. He'll retire in three years and reap the benefits of Sohio's pension fund.

Pegler — Fair Enough

WASHINGTON — It would be unfair to Harold L. Ickes and Joseph Guffey, until just now a senator from Pennsylvania, to say that Senator Theodore Bilbo, of Mississippi, is less beloved of his brethren who jeered the fallen and apparently dying little peckerwood out of town and on his way to the operating table. He is cheap and he is ornery, but Ickes confessed himself a miser and Guffey owed an income tax for years and years.

Bilbo, at least, never pretended that he lived only to serve the common man, and he deserves a measure of respect for that. His worst fault, and his fatal one, was that he lacked the jovial grace of the late Pat Harrison, often elected in the same state of Mississippi and under the same laws, who enjoyed the friendship of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the respect of many of the same hypocrites who damned Bilbo.

The laws and the system that Bilbo invoked had prevailed in Mississippi and other deep-south states since reconstruction. They were devised before he was born to assure the outnumbered and destitute planters that they would not again be governed and Jim-crowed and taxed by the freedmen, and Bilbo neither wrote them nor changed them by so much as a comma. An oppressed minority had rebelled to become oppressors of a predatory majority and the congressional hearings of the time revealed horrible persecution and exploitation of the beaten southern rebels.

* * *

ON THE SAME ground, Mr. Byrnes, the resigning secretary of state, might be repudiated, and the bankheads of Alabama and hundreds of other southern politicians, including some statesmen, and certainly including Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida, who finds himself in strange company among the New York Communists.

Ten years ago, in Pepper's state, at picking time, his constables and sheriffs practiced a system of peonage, and they were his constables and sheriffs, for he was even then asserting his command of a political machine that extends far back along the canal banks and into the meanest jukes. At picking time, for the harvesting of crops that couldn't wait, the constables and sheriffs of Mr. Pepper's back country rounded up by the Negroes and invited them to work the crops at the going wago, which was not luxurious even by the standards of the swamps. If they refused, they were subject to arrest as vagrants and would work on the road gangs for nothing.

What now has Bilbo done in Mississippi that hasn't been done there and elsewhere in the south, ever since a desperate people rebelled against an earlier generation of carpetbaggers and scalawags in a situation now being repeated, for God only knows what eventual result, in Germany? And what has been his crime, except the exercise of a nasty disposition that he was born with, and no worse, surely, than many another in the party of humanity?

To accuse him as a grafter, exploiting the power and influence of his office for private gain is to repudiate the holy example of him who used the presidency to swindle a gullible grocery man of $196,000 on a loan. His operations differed only in detail and magnitude, but not in principle, from that of Representative Coffee of the state of Washington, a New Dealer of high degree, whose price for obtaining a contract for a bidder on a hospital job was $2,500. He is but one of a whole gallery of sticky-fingered impostors whose names will soon be coming into view now that the Republicans control the committees and have the power to examine the income tax returns.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON — (UP) — I wish the government kindly would get its greedy paws off my home town.

We St. Louisans are sore. Rep. Walter Ploeser, an old St. Louis neighbor of mine, says bureaucratic viciousness is running rampant. I claim the government's pulling the old shell game. Rep. Ploeser says this is a national scandal. What do you think we are, government? Yokels who'd buy the Brooklyn bridge?

I must report with civic pride that we used to have outside St. Louis an airport de luxe we called Lambert field. We were proud of it. Came the war and we let the RFC build an engine plant on the field.

We leased another chunk of our airport to the navy for $50 for use as a training station. We gave the army the glassed-in top of our passenger terminal for use by one of those radar dinguses. We charged 20 cents a year for this.

Then we gave the army about eight acres of our airport and one of our best hangars for an air transport command terminal. Our fee for this was $1 a year. We didn't have much airport left for our own use. But we were patriotic. We didn't care. We were helping win the war.

* * *

SAME FINALLY ended and the army moved out of our hangar and our eight acres. Did we move back in? No siree. The army declared the property surplus and now, so help us, the War Assets Administration is trying to sell the lease.

"Do I understand the War Assets people actually are attempting that?" demanded Rep. Robert F. Rich of Pa. "Trying to sell something they don't even own?"

"They paid $1 for the lease so I guess they do own that," Rep. Ploeser replied. "They have put it up for sale."

"Well," said Rep. Rich, you can't tell what the WAA is going to do."

"No, and they can't either," agreed Rep. Ploeser. "They were told this lease was valuable, and while the city of St. Louis has a priority, we don't like the idea of buying back our own property."

"Why don't you fellows make 'em give you a bargain price?" Rep. Rich inquired.

"Pay a bargain price for our own property?" retorted Rep. Ploeser. "They can't sell it to us. It already belongs to us."

That's not all. The RFC quit making engines in the factory on our airport and rented it to somebody else, who may be making doll buggies for all we know. Rep. Ploeser snarls at the RFC and it won't even say boo. Just ignores St. Louis.

Farmers' Tax Due Jan. 15

Time was running short today for Mansfield area farmers or others who derive two-thirds of their gross income from farming, who failed to file their declaration of estimated income tax last March 15.

Deadline for filing of their declaration and payment of the tax balance is Jan. 15.

Declarations and payments should be filed at the Collector's office on the second floor of the Post Office building.

Business and professional people who find that their estimated tax has substantially increased or decreased, (more than 20 per cent), since they filed their declaration, should also file an amended declaration if they have not done so before one of the earlier filing dates in 1946, it was said.

Thieves Get Cash At Restaurant

Emzie Wilson, operator of a restaurant at 26½ East Sixth street, told police that thieves broke into the place yesterday and stole $10 from a cash box and an undetermined amount of money from a juke box.

Officers reported a door glass was broken to gain entry and that the cash box and juke box were broken open.

LEGION MAN NAMED TO HEAD VETS' GROUP

Commission Picks Fulkerson as President in 1947.

M. A. Fulkerson of the McVey post, American Legion, was elected president of the Joint Veterans' Commission of Richland county at a meeting last night in the VFW clubrooms in the Memorial building. The Mansfield chapter of Amvets was host at the meeting.

Carl Kahl, VFW, was elected vice president; Don Finefrock, Amvet, secretary treasurer, and Sam Davis, Legion post 72, second vice president.

The representatives voted unanimously to "stand 100 percent behind the Friendly House and what it stands for," declaring it has contributed much to the community and we hope that the public will support it in full."

Unanimous also was the decision that a letter should go to J. L. Zimmerman and his committee, commending them on "the great work that they have done regarding the housing of veterans." A similar letter will be sent to McVey Post No. 16, American Legion.

Ask Fairgrounds Vote.

Delegates were instructed to bring before their various organizations the question as to whether they favor maintaining the Richland county fairgrounds in its present location and acquiring some 38 acres of land adjacent as being cheaper than acquiring a new location as proposed, several months ago.

Charles Prosser, DAV, was named chairman of a committee to formulate plans for a veterans' homecoming celebration.

The 37th Division will be hosts at the next commission meeting to be held at 8 p. m., Jan. 30 in the VFW rooms in the Memorial building.

Present at last nights meeting were representatives from the Mansfield chapters of Amvets, AVC, VFW, DAV, American Legion Post Nos. 16 and 72, 37th Division and Battery D.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN SET

Mansfield's March of Dimes committee last night laid plans for the 15-day fund campaign, from Jan. 15 to 30.

Posters advertising the drive, collection boxes, personal letters from the committee to individuals and organizations, and solicitation in the Mansfield theaters during the week of Jan. 24-30 will be used in Mansfield to spur the drive, H. W. McClellan, drive chairman, said today.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson will see that campaign materials and collection boxes are distributed to cities and towns around Mansfield, with the exception of Shelby which conducts its own drive.

Heading the Mansfield union's drive for the collection will be Desmond Walker, president, Local 17, United Rubber Worker's union.

The Mansfield chapter of Delta Theta Tau, national sorority, will assist in the preparation and mailing of the personal letters to business and industry.

McClellan said that there would be no birthday ball this year because past experiences have shown that the expenses incurred here do not warrant it.

"We must raise an amount substantially above the $5,850.68 we obtained last year," McClellan emphasized. "Both the national and local funds are low as a result of the 1946 epidemic. This is the reason that the national goal is set at $24,000,000." We share local collections with the national foundation on a 50-50 basis."

MERCURY TO CLIMB, WEATHERMAN SAYS

The weatherman couldn't find anything unusual about the weather today. He predicted somewhat warmer temperatures tomorrow, but it would remain cloudy in the Mansfield area. Light rain or snow was a possibility, he said.

The low this morning at Hayesville was 15 degrees, while the high yesterday was 27. Precipitation yesterday—mostly snow with a little slush thrown in—was .29 inches.

In a word, the weather bureau said the situation was normal.

MODEL AIRPLANE CLUB ORGANIZED

The Frank Lahm Modeleers were organized as a model airplane club with 30 members at a meeting held last night in the YMCA.

PORTAL LAWYER GETS WORRIED

TOLEDO —(AP)— Edward Lamb, Toledo attorney who set in motion the series of portal-to-portal pay suits now piling up in courts throughout the country, urged federal legislation to limit them to coverage of a four-year period today.

In a letter to U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft he said:

"I believe that congress should adopt a reasonable statute of limitations upon the prosecution of claims arising under the fair labor standards act.

"The law requires an employer to keep accurate records of the hours worked by his employes and to retain these records for four years. Lamb added that employers and employes alike should not be permited prosecution of actions which accrued beyond four years.

Unions began filing the suits for portal-to-portal overtime after the U. S. Supreme Court upheld Lamb's contention in behalf of employes of the Mt. Clemens (Michigan) Pottery company.

Fire-Chasing 'Bill' Enlow Gets Bright White Helmet

Service-Safety Director William W. "Bill" Enlow won't go bare-headed to city fires anymore.

He now has a real, honest-to-goodness fireman's hat—gift of Mansfield firemen.

The surprise gift was made more for Enlow's safety than as a gag.

Hardly a major fire alarm sounds which doesn't find Enlow trailing—or actually riding—the fire apparatus to the scene. It's part of his program to learn how departments under his direction operate.

But firemen—glad to have a director who takes a definite interest in their work—were concerned about his safety.

"At fires he ploughs around through buildings and we were afraid that one of these days a piece of burning timber might get him," said one fireman.

So they chipped in and bought him the hat—a brand-new, snow-white job with bright red ear-warmers. On the front is a badge withch reads "Safety Director."

Puls, pastor of the Lutheran Memorial church at Madison, who requested a picture and a copy of the News-Journal story about the giving of Christmas gifts to the four injured soldiers, who were patients at General hospital. The letter from Dr. Puls was made at the request of the mother of Siegfreid Eberhardt, one of the four, who is now at Hayes hospital, Columbus. The other letter came to the News-Journal from Jane C. COMMISSIONER OUTLINES IDEAL DEPARTMENT

Sees Need For New Clinics, Intensive Restaurant Sanitation Program.

Dr. Fred O. Tonney, newly appointed health commissioner for Mansfield and Richland county, today outlined the functions of "an ideal health department" which he believes could be developed here in the next few years.

Dr. Tonney listed 19 services which should be part of the "ideal" department. Some of these services are already well developed here. Others are either under-developed or non-existent, he said.

Services which need to be launched before the city-county department can move into the ideal category, he said, include heart disease and cancer clinics and industrial health and general nutrition programs.

Better Pre-Natal Care.

Those which need to be expanded are prenatal care for expectant mothers; contagion control, restaurant and tavern sanitation; food control; and farm sanitation.

Also described by Dr. Tonney as somewhat under-developed were the city-county dental services, milk control and summer resort sanitation.

He said that services which are "fairly well developed" include control of tuberculosis and venereal diseases; pro-school and school health programs; sanitation and care.

laboratory services and infant

In "good shape" he said, were the department's vital statistics records and public health educations programs.

Lauds Existing Setup.

"Very few communities in this country have the benefit of fully developed local health services in all respects," said Dr. Tooney, "and Mansfield and Richland county are no exception. This is a matter to be worked out over a period of years for every community.

"However, we do have the advantage of a county wide health organization supported by the combined financial resources of the entire area, including the cities. This eliminates duplication of work, and assures greater economy, and efficiency of operation.

"Disease in its spread, does not respect municipal boundaries. Also the combination of financial resources permits employment of higher caliber ttechnical health experts in a single organization, than could possibly be secured by a city or county alone operating in virtual competition with each other."

As to future plans, Dr. Tonney said he preferred to go slowly, making no important changes in either policy or methods but keeping an eye out to possibilities for improvement as they develop.

He also had a word of commendation for the health department staff, which, he said, has been working under the stress of heavy demands during the post war period.

Clean-Outs Cost $16,205 In 1946

Water to Begin Flowing Into Clear Fork Lake Early In '48

Water is expected to begin backing behind the city's Clear Fork dam early in 1948, and the big reservoir probably will be filled by October, 1948, city officials predicted today.

Work is already started on the dam and it is expected to be finished by next August, engineers informed the city.

Clearing work, now in full swing, is due for completion by next September.

Swamplands are the first sections of 1,000-acre tract being "attacked" by crews operating lawn-mower-like power saws. Axes are used in close-grown sections.

Start of the clearing work marks the opening of the $1,000,000 water project's second phase. Concrete is already being poured for the project dam, the first major phase.

The reservoir is expected to triple Mansfield's water supply.

Cut Swamps First.

City Engineer W. C. Statler said that cleaning contractors are working in the swamp sections first because they are frozen now.

About 400 acres of the total tract is heavy-timbered area, Statler said. Contractors will sell most of the lumber for paper-making pulp wood, he said.

Once saws and axes have cleared the bulk of the property, liquid fire is to be used to take the entire tract, exclusive of stumps, down to a two-inch stubble, the engineer said. Stumps will be permitted to range up to six inches in height.

Clearing crews are working near Marion avenue road now under the direction of Contractors M. P. Teter and John Richardson, partners, of Lexington.

Saw Does Heavy Work.

Major tool of the crews is a power-driven, circular saw mounted on a chassis similar to that of a lawn-mower, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said. Crews can wheel the machines up to a tree, saw through it then turn the saw's blade vertical to finish the job, he said.

Teter and Richardson, low bidders for the clearing contract, will be paid some $73,000 for the job.
